Teamster Pension Loses Tax Status

LOS ANGELES — The Internal Revenue Service has revoked the tax-exempt status of the Teamsters Union's central states pension fund, which may face the union with a bill for millions of dollars in back taxes, the Los Angeles Times reported today.

The Times said an IRS spokesman in Washington confirmed reports that the tax exemption had been revoked because of alleged mismanagement of the fund.

Balloonist's Solo Is Nearing Halfway

NEW YORK — Karl Thomas today was closing in on the halfway point in his bid to become the first to solo the Atlantic Ocean in a balloon.

Thomas had planned to land Thursday in Europe, but a spokesman said he possibly could make it by Wednesday night if he were where they believed him to be.

More Lawyers Sent Into Point Scandal

WEST POINT — The Army has assigned 42 lawyers from other posts in an attempt to bring litigation in the U.S. Military Academy's cheating scandal to a close by the end of summer, it was disclosed on Monday.

The decision to add the lawyers grew out of a meeting last week between academy officials and officers from the Judge Advocate General's office at the Pentagon.

'Better Cooperation' Is Summit Pledge

DORADO, Puerto Rico — The West's seven leading industrial nations ended a Caribbean summit pledging "better cooperation" to achieve steady recovery from recession while avoiding a new boom and bust cycle of inflation.

But the cautious language of their closing communique did not quite conceal the essential disagreement between the Big Three — the United States, West Germany and Japan — and the two weaker economies, Britain and Italy, where inflation is still running above 15 per cent and 20 per cent respectively.

Beirut Front Lines Turn Into Inferno

BEIRUT — Palestinian and leftist gunmen attacked right-wing forces on several fronts Monday, turning Beirut's front lines into infernos of machine-gun and rocket fire in a last-ditch attempt to prevent the fall of two besieged refugee camps.

Palestinian spokesmen threatened "all-out war" if the camps were lost.

Lawyers Work On Angola Appeals

LUNDA, Angola — Defense attorneys began appeals today for 13 Americans and Britons sentenced to death or long imprisonment for fighting as "mercenary prostitutes" in Angola's civil war.

Four of the men, including American Daniel Gearhart, were condemned to death by firing squads. The nine others were given prison terms ranging from 16 to 30 years on Monday.

KINGSTON — Strong winds and heavy rains buffeted the Kingston area last night, downing trees, power lines and damaging some property.

The winds, gusting up to 60 miles per hour, were accompanied by sporadic heavy rains, lightning and hail in some areas. Central Hudson Electric and Gas Company reported work crews out through the night restoring service on both sides of the Hudson, with the final repairs being completed by mid-morning.

Mostly as a result of falling branches and snapped power cables Kingston Cablevision was dark for some time last night. Service crews were still working this morning to restore reception to residents along Old King's Highway and some sections of Sawkill.

State Police reported no accidents due to the storm, but local fire companies responded to numerous calls related to sparking wires and falling tree limbs. In Ulster a tree branch fell through the roof at the home of John Sutton, 100 Esopus Ave., but residents of the house escaped injury.

New York Telephone reported some wires down because of the high winds, but no major interruption of service occurred.

Town of Ulster Wants to Buy Water from Kingston

By LYNN MULVANEY
Freeman Staff

KINGSTON — The Town of Ulster wants to buy up to one million gallons of water a day from the City of Kingston and disperse it wherever water service is needed in the town, including Spring Lake.

The city is responding to the proposal with great interest, "feeling more comfortable dealing with a government agency than with individuals" such as Spring Lake residents, according to Edwin F. Radel, administrative superintendent of Kingston Water Department.

The agreement to sell the water to Ulster on a volume basis hinges on an upcoming report of the city's consulting engineers, Manganaro Associates of New York City. They are now determining whether the need can be met and what restrictions should be placed on an agreement.

Radel said the Water Board would not recommend "anything which in any way would detract from the quality or quantity of water now served to city residents."

"We are negotiating," Town of Ulster Supervisor Carmine Sabino said of the "official request" for the water.

Kingston currently has a safe yield of six million gallons of water a day, said by some to be a conservative estimate. It now uses about three to four million a day with one million of it committed to IBM.

The proposed arrangement reportedly would allow Town of Ulster to hook into the city water line at one or more points including a tie-in near IBM which is on the Ulster-Kingston boundary and would require little or no major construction.

Those who have long envisioned an integrated county water supply system see the Kingston-Ulster hookup as the first of a series which would lead to tying in all the towns with the Catskill and Delaware aqueducts.

County Employment Up 1,200

KINGSTON — Ulster County has 1,200 more people working than it did a year ago, though it remains one of the state's worst unemployment areas.

Ulster unemployment has dropped to 10.3 per cent in May compared with 10.9 per cent in April and 12.1 per cent in March.

The decline in unemployed here is in keeping with a statewide trend. The State Labor Department announced today a jobless rate that receded from 9.5 per cent in April to 8.9 per cent in May.

For the first time in two and one-half years, Commissioner Philip Ross said, the unemployment rate statewide was lower in May than for the same month in the previous year. In May 1975, the state jobless rate was nine per cent.

Ulster is unable to boast a similar improvement however. May's 10.3 per cent rate of unemployed is slightly higher than in May, 1975, when it was 10 per cent.

The state reports 59,600 persons were employed here in May. The number of unemployed in May of this year was 6,800, a 300 increase over the May 1975 figure of 6,500.

Seasonal expansion in construction, services and retail trade are thought to be partly responsible for the increased employment.

The rate declined most in New York City area and in rural sections. Buffalo continued to suffer the highest unemployment of a major industrial area with 10.4 per cent, while Poughkeepsie had the lowest rate, 5.7 per cent, down from 6.3 per cent in April.

Ross said the total unemployed in the state was 571,500, down 44,100 from the previous month and 25,100 below the May 1975 level.

He noted that despite the improving economic picture, the state has lost 112,000 non-farm jobs since 1975 May 1975, with most of the drop due to job cuts in the state and local governments.

MARKETBASKET

County Food Prices Vary 5%

KINGSTON — For the second week in a row, food prices in the New Paltz/Port Ewen/Rosendale area were as much as five per cent lower than food prices in other parts of Ulster County, the Ulster County Consumer Information Service announced today.

The cost of a 41-item market basket of food items typically purchased by an average moderate income family in the New Paltz area was $65.39. The same food cost $65.55 in Kingston (2 per cent higher), $65.56 in Ellenville/Warrensburg (3 per cent higher), $68.00 in Woodstock/Saugerties (plus 3.9 per cent), and topping the list again this week, $68.34 in Lloyd/Marlborough (plus 4.5 per cent).

In the Kingston area, the price of perch fillets declined 5 per cent from the previous week, and tuna fish was down 11 per cent. Eggs, up 5 per cent and margarine, up 11 per cent led the dairy products sector of the basket to a slight increase.

The figures were based on a survey of at least 16 Ulster County supermarkets made during the week ending June 25. The new market basket figures are not directly comparable with the old figures, which were based on a 38-item market basket now supplemented with sirloin steak, yellow onions, and tea.

City Workers Again Must Live in Limits

KINGSTON — Any new employees hired by the City of Kingston will have to be residents of the city under a new law Mayor Francis R. Koenig said he intends to sign this week.

There was no public opposition to the proposal at a hearing Monday night at City Hall.

While no one spoke either for or against the measure, it previously won the endorsement of the Common Council and the mayor believes it is a good law.

"Plenty of people are looking for work and I feel City of Kingston residents, those who pay taxes, should be given first preference," the mayor said.

He said he has always felt that way about promotions as well.

"City of Kingston residents first."

At one time the city had a residency law for its employees, but in the early sixties policemen's jobs were hard to fill and the city extended its hiring boundaries to include those areas within a 10 mile radius of Kingston.

Today is different however. There are more job applicants than there are jobs to fill.

Any persons now employed by the city will be exempt from the new law however, for it applies only to future employees.

The measure also provides protection for the city in that anyone newly hired, and a resident of the city, may not move out of Kingston without forfeiting his or her job.

The law, which had three readings before the Common Council since April, defines employment in part as all Civil Service Exempt, competitive and non-competitive Civil Service, provisional employment, when it is provided out of the city's general revenues and employment which comes from agencies whose budgets need Common Council approval.

Mistake Means County Gets $478,000 Only

WASHINGTON — What the government giveth, the government taketh away. Especially when the wrong information is fed into the computer.

Last week the office of U.S. Rep. Matthew F. McHugh, D-27th Dist., announced Ulster County would get $478,000 over the next four months from a federal Local Public Works bill.

Now, with apologies, Tom Hanan of McHugh's staff says the money will not be paid, as originally thought, over the first three months (July to October), but will be spread over the entire 15-month period called for in the bill.

"It was our mistake," said Hanan, "and we're sorry. We misunderstood the arithmetic involved. Ulster County will get $478,000, but since it'll be spread over five quarters and not just one, that sum doesn't mean nearly as much as we thought."

Mistakes do happen—but this particular error will prove a disappointing setback for the county and many of its municipalities. Projects to create new jobs, dependent on receipt of the funds, were already planned and ready to start the next 90 days.

Have Questions on Food Stamps? ...Don't Even Bother to Ask

KINGSTON—The Daily Freeman tried in vain yesterday to gather information on the new food stamp plan for recipients of Supplemental Social Security Income (SSI). Several calls to the County Food Stamp Office revealed only that Dolores C. Whitaker, supervisor of the office, is "away for a few weeks," that there was no one able to divulge any information on the new program, scheduled to begin Thursday. In fact there wasn't anyone in the office at all except the woman answering the phones, who couldn't give her name.

Prince Radziwill Dies at 61

LONDON (UPI) — Prince Stanislaus Radziwill, the Polishborn former husband of Princess Lee Radziwill, sister of Mrs. Jacqueline Onassis, died Sunday after a brief illness. He was 61.

Radziwill, who had a home near Buckingham Palace, died at the home of millionaire racehorse owner Ivor Bruce in Essex, northeast of London.

The Radziwills married in 1959 but were divorced in 1975 after living apart for two years.

Princess Lee, 44, flew to London with her daughter when she heard the news and said she wanted to be at Radziwill's funeral and to visit their son, Antoine, at school in London.

"Despite our divorce, we were very close," she told the Daily Express. "I last saw him in New York about three weeks ago. He had been in indifferent health for some time."

"He died very quickly," she said. "We shall be returning to New York straight after the funeral."

Investigate Dolphin Deaths

HONOLULU (UPI) — More than 20 deep sea dolphins washed ashore near Kihei on the Island of Maui. Seven of the mammals were dead or died soon afterwards. Officials of Sea Life Park and the Smithsonian Institution said Monday that they were investigating the cause of death.

Dr. Edward Shellenberger of Sea Life Park brought back four of 17 dolphins spotted inside the reef Sunday at Kihei. Two were dead, one died later, but one was reported healthy and swimming about Monday in the park tanks.

"There had never been a well-documented strangling in mass like this before," the oceanographer said. "Normally you find large numbers of parasites in animals that are beached." This, he said, could have affected their sense of direction.

Action Group To Meet

KINGSTON—The Ulster County Community Action Committee Inc. will hold its annual membership meeting June 30, from 8 to 10 p.m.

The meeting will be held in the student lounge located in Vanderlyn Hall, Ulster County Community College, Stone Ridge.

The public is invited to attend and refreshments will be served.

Weather Turmoil Across Nation

By UPI

Rains sent floodwaters sloshing over portions of the Midlands Monday and a record heat wave seared California, crowding beaches and feeding fires.

Storms hit Kansas Monday night and early today, spreading high winds and hail from eastern Texas across much of the Mississippi Valley and into the Plains and the Appalachians.

Gusts of more than 80 miles per hour struck the Fargo, N.D., area and 60-mile-an-hour gusts were reported near Hopkinsville, Ky.

A tornado hit Penslosa, Kan., causing scattered damage but no injuries. Baseball-sized hail shattered windows at Bennington, Kan.

Other tornadoes were reported Monday at Pasco, Fla., and Wahpeton, N.D. There were no reports of damage or injuries.

An earlier storm dumped about 1½ inches of rain in the Kansas City, Mo., metropolitan area Sunday night and Monday, triggering flash floods, stranding motorists atop automobiles and delaying the eastern Kansas wheat harvest.

That storm brought 60-mile-an-hour winds and produced a freak, 14-degree temperature rise in 90 seconds at St. Joseph, Mo.

Traver Hollow Bridge Gets $1.3 Million to Rebuild

ALBANY — A windfall of $1.3 million for the rebuilding of Traver Hollow Bridge in Olive, closed since its condemnation last year, tops the list of projects granted state funds in the supplementary budget passed Sunday.

Other appropriations brought the amount specifically earmarked for various projects in Ulster County to $1.8 million.

The barricaded Traver Hollow Bridge has split Schoiceville from West Shokan, making long detours necessary for residents of both communities.

The City of New York, which closed the bridge, said it would not be reopened to traffic for another three years. Assemblyman Maurice Hinchey, D-Dist. 101, noted state funding will hasten repairs. The appropriation goes to the State Department of Transportation, subject to approval by the Director of the Budget. The money for reconstruction of the bridge was approved by both houses of the legislature and the governor.

The State University College, New Paltz, will receive $250,000 for a new roof for the science building.

"Both projects will create jobs in the construction business locally," Hinchey said, "making work for people who are now unemployed." Construction has been the hardest-hit industry economically in Ulster in the last two years.

The supplemental budget will also provide $108,000 for improvements to the library at Ulster County Community College, and $60,900 for faculty jobs at SUC, New Paltz, reinstating funds cut back during earlier retrenchment.

The Eastern Correctional

Facility at Napanoch will receive $67,000 for needed improvement of its boiler feed pump system. Again, said Hinchey, that installation would create other jobs.

While no break down of local appropriations is now available, Ulster County will profit from some of the $700,000 in additional funds for state police. Local barracks will receive money for staffing and to help maintain adequate patrol coverage, both of which will benefit communities here.

Additional money appropriated statewide, said Hinchey, could filter down in part locally to help libraries, increase supplemental social security income for present recipients, assist college students with tuition funds, and aid mental health facilities.

Agree on Pension Compromise

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — After a week of intense negotiations, the leaders of the Republican Senate and Democratic Assembly early today compromised on a pension reform bill aimed at saving state taxpayers $1.4 billion over 10 years.

The agreement cleared the final major hurdle to adjournment of the 1976 legislative session.

The compromise plan incorporates features of the measure by Sen. Fred Eckert, R-Rochester, which cleared the Senate last Tuesday, and a Democratic plan that gained Assembly approval Sunday under the guidance of Assemblymen Thomas Frey of Rochester, Ronald Stott of Syracuse and Stephen Greco of Buffalo. Frey, Stott and Assembly

Minority Leader Perry Duryea confirmed agreement had been reached.

Democrats agreed to retain the present five-member pension commission headed by Otto Kinzel while the Republicans agreed to accept a three-person "observer" squad to watch the Kinzel commission. The original Democratic measure would have abolished the Kinzel panel and replaced it with a 14-member body.

Republicans agreed to retain Democratic provisions for new state and local government employees hired after Wednesday in regard to pension computations which would save $180 million more over the next decade than the GOP version.

Urge Receivership for Dutchess Jail

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (UPI) — The chairman of the Dutchess County Legislature said Monday he would ask the state Commission of Corrections to put the Dutchess County jail in receivership in the wake of a request by County Sheriff Lawrence Quinlan that the jail be closed.

Dr. Daniel Hannigan said Monday he was in the process of writing a letter to the corrections department, asking that a penologist be appointed to run the jail, removing all responsibility from Quinlan.

Hannigan said the county legislature did not feel it was necessary to close the jail, as requested by Quinlan last Friday, and said a receivership would be useful until conditions at the jail could be corrected.

Quinlan was fined $500 last Tuesday in federal court after being found in contempt of a 1973 court order to improve "shocking" conditions at the jail. U.S. District Court Judge Henry Werker also gave Quinlan 30 days to comply with the 29-month-old order or face an additional fine of $50 daily until he complied.

On Friday Quinlan announced he had asked state officials for permission to close the facility because, "I can't comply with the order."

Hannigan responded that there was no reason to close the jail, saying the only real problem that existed was one of space — which the legislature was working on.

The legislative chairman said he finally decided to make the counter-request of state corrections officers at the suggestion of County Legislator Jack Dexter.

Included in the court order was a mandate to classify inmates and minors, convicts and pre-trial detainees; provide mental health services; improve food, recreation and hygiene facilities; provide communication privileges; and upgrade the general physical plant.

'Just another dish' valued at $1750.00

NORTHBROOK, Ill.—A major art exchange here reports that a man who found several "dishes" in his attic was amazed to learn that one was a true collector's plate valued at $1750.00.

According to Roderick MacArthur, director of the Bradford Exchange, "Although this was exceptional, it is remarkable how many people unknowingly have valuable collector's plates tucked in cupboards and attics. Some of the rarest and most expensive plates originally sold for pennies, and virtually anyone who owns a dish could own one of them."

As a guide to the individual plates in this booming field, the Exchange, in cooperation with McGraw-Hill Publishers, is offering for a limited period the comprehensive Bradford Book of Collector's Plates, a manual which the Exchange's own experts use to evaluate the investment potential of collector's plates.

It pictures and describes the $59 major plates which are bought and sold on the collector's market, some of them worth hundreds and even thousands of dollars. If you have a potential collector's plate, simply check it against the Book to discover the facts. Continued From Page 1

Once the City of Kingston and Town of Ulster are tied together, it wouldn't take much to tie in Hurley. It's been suggested that once a connection is made at Stone Ridge with the Catskill aqueduct, a line could be run to Kingston along the flats bordering Route 208.

Spring Lake residents have appealed to the city previously seeking to hook into the municipal supply but the city has firmly refused. If Kingston sells the water directly to Town of Ulster, the town in turn could provide the water to Spring Lake which borders the city line.

Several of the city's aldermen favor the proposal, including Clarence Reichle, R-First Ward, who is concerned over Spring Lake's poor water supply.

Alderman Titus B. Sims, R-13th Ward asks, "Why have water going over the dam when we can realize revenue from it?"

Neither Sabino or Radel would estimate what kind of a dollar agreement is being talked of in connection with the proposed water sale.

But, it is safe to assume that any agreement reached would include a provision that the town never undersell the water to its residents at less than what city residents pay.

Putting an end to arbitrary municipal boundaries when it comes to problems such as water, sewers, solid waste disposal and fire and police protection is favored by County Planning Director Herbert Hekler.

"For years I have been saying there is a need to integrate water systems. Just as the City of Kingston is tying in with Esopus, so it may be possible for it to extend in other directions," he suggested.

"Wonderful things happen when communities work together. If the city can help the towns, that's great, for by helping the towns it will help the city too," he added.

"Without intermunicipal cooperation, we will continue a pattern of duplication and rivalry rather than seeking cooperation and more efficient delivery of services."

"This does not mean that a community should give away its resources, but a fair exchange or cost sharing, can and should be pursued," Hekler concluded.

Sabino said his town has supplied its engineering information and made an offer. Now it is waiting only for a response from the city, saying "It's their ballgame."

Radel said the city is still gathering engineering data and is talking "seriously" about pursuing the proposal.

Senate Moves to Keep That Lower IRS Rate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has taken the first step to ensure that no one's income tax withholding rates rise Thursday.

If the House acts quickly, as expected, the current lower rates will remain in effect at least through Sept. 1 while the Senate continues to struggle with a massive tax revision bill.

The Senate took the action almost nonchalantly by voice vote Monday evening, shortly after a group of tax "reformers" won one of their rare victories by convincing the Senate to leave intact a provision lowering the maximum tax rate on unearned income such as dividends from 70 per cent to 50 per cent.

By voting to extend withholding rates, the Senate formally acknowledged what had become obvious more than a week ago: the 1,536-page tax revision bill cannot possibly be completed before Congress leaves this weekend for its two-week holiday covering the July 4 weekend and the Democratic national convention July 12-15.

The withholding extension was attached to a minor House-passed bill.

Finance Committee chairman Russell Long, D-La., suggested the rates be extended to Aug. 16. But Republicans noted that was the date the Republican political convention starts and insisted on Sept. 1.

The "temporary" recession-fighting tax cuts Congress approved last year expire Thursday. It is assumed the eventual tax revision bill will make these tax cuts permanent.

The Senate action on tax cuts overshadowed the struggle over the maximum tax, which took up most of the Senate's time Monday.

The victory for the "reform" group means those with large amounts of interest, dividends, rents and other "unearned" income will have to continue paying a maximum tax rate of 70 per cent.

A Brick House Pays Off

KINGSTON—John and Lucille Boss of 42 Fair Street are glad that their house is made of brick.

Their whole house shook Monday night around 10 o'clock when a car smashed into the living room wall.

Two persons were inured Monday in a one-car accident in Barclay Heights, Saugerties. Saugerties Town Police say Christopher Fasulo,

Police Beat

Kerhonsen, the driver, was turning right onto Fair Street when she evidently lost control of her car and ran up onto the lawn and smashed into the house. Miss McElrath reportedly stepped on the accelerator instead of the brakes and hit the wall with enough force to demolish the front end of the car and knock the stones loose on the inside of the wall in the basement.

She has been charged by Kingston Police with being an Fasulo and Lisa Ricciardelli, 16, also of Norwood, were taken to Kingston Hospital by the Saugerties Ambulance Service. Fasulo was treated for a fractured clavicle and released and Ricciardelli is reported in satisfactory condition with injuries to her hip and lower leg.

Austerity Budget Is Adopted in Highland

HIGHLAND — The Highland Board of Education has unanimously adopted an austerity budget effective July 1.

The defeat of the 1976-77 budget by district voters June 22 made it necessary for some method to be adopted to meet necessary expenses for the summer months. It also canceled the summer band, arts and crafts and summer playground programs for the district.

Members of the board of education and administrators will go to Albany July 2 for a meeting with the financial division of the State Education Department to discuss lawful expenditures that can be made in July.

No date has been announced for a budget re-vote.

KHS Graduation Set Tonight at Dietz

KINGSTON — Kingston High School's 1976 graduation ceremonies will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at Dietz Memorial Stadium. The graduation is open to the public.

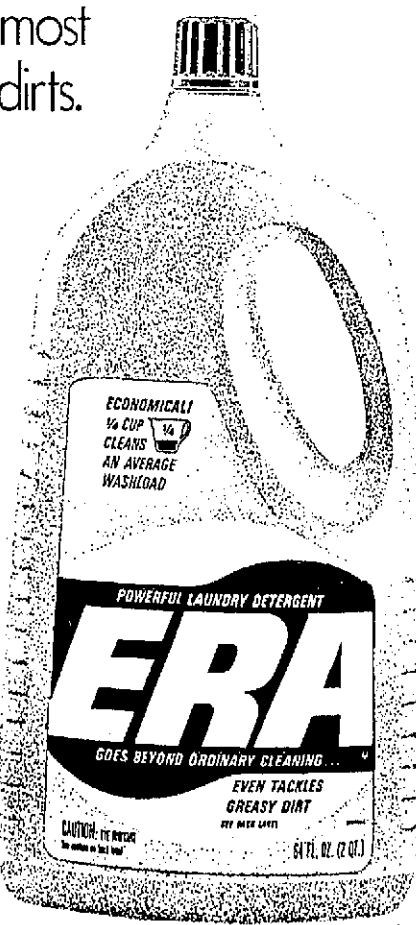

In case of rain, ceremonies will be held in the Kate Walton Field House, and rain tickets will be required.

More than 700 members of the Class of 1976 will be graduated this year, 54 of them with honors.

Len Cane, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Ulster County, will be the speaker. Cane also is an incoming member of the board of education.

Appeals Start for Mercenaries

LUNDA, Angola (UPI) — Defense attorneys began appeals today for 13 Americans and Britons sentenced to death or long imprisonment for fighting as "mercenary prostitutes" in Angola's civil war.

Four of the men, including American Daniel Gearhart, were condemned to death by firing squad. The nine others were given prison terms ranging from 16 to 30 years Monday.

The three British lawyers in the case sent cables to Queen Elizabeth and Prime Minister James Callaghan and drafted a personal appeal to Angolan President Agostinho Neto, who can commute the sentences.

The American attorneys planned a similar appeal to Neto and one booked a flight to Washington to seek aid from the U.S. government.

"I am catching the first flight out for Washington," said Bill Wilson of St. Louis. "There is no other comment to make about the trial. You can make up your own mind about the justice of it from the inconsistencies of the sentences."

(In London, Callaghan issued an appeal to Neto for clemency for the three Britons sentenced to death.)

(In Washington, a State Department spokesman said the government had contacted the Red Cross. The United States and Angola do not have diplomatic relations.)

Gearhart, a balding, 34-year-old Vietnam veteran, who left a wife and four children in Kensington, Md., was singled out for the death penalty because he allegedly ran an advertisement offering himself as a mercenary.

The Revolutionary Peoples'

Tribunal also accused him of writing a letter to the "Wild Geese," a group of former mercenaries based in South Africa and made allusions to a possible link between him and the CIA.

"Although he was only in Angola for a short time, there is no doubt that he is a highly dangerous man," said Judge Ernesto da Silva.

He called the men in the dock and mercenaries in general "dogs of war with blood-stained muzzles that left a trail of rape, murder and pillage across the face of our nation." But, he said, he recognized the varying degree of guilt of the prisoners.

Gary Acker, 21, of Sacramento, Calif., was sentenced to 16 years and Gustavo Grillo, a 27-year-old Argentine American from Jersey City, N.J., was given the maximum 30 years.

'All-Out War' Warned of Beirut Camps Fall

By Doyle McManus

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Palestinian and leftist gunmen attacked right-wing forces on several fronts Monday, turning Beirut's front lines into infernos of machine-gun and rocket fire in a last-ditch attempt to prevent the fall of two besieged refugee camps.

But the leftists' surge, intended to draw rightist fire power from the Tal al Zaatar and Jisr al Pasha camps — the last Palestinian outposts in Christian eastern Beirut — appeared to be a failure.

Western diplomats and independent Palestinian sources said the heavily fortified camps, under attack for a week in one of the biggest battles of Lebanon's 15-month civil war, might fall within 24 hours.

Palestinian military chief Salah Khalef, second in command of the Al Fatah guerrilla organization, vowed to defend the camps "no matter what the cost."

Palestinian spokesmen threatened "all-out war" if the camps were lost.

The fighting has left more than 160 dead and 300 wounded in the past 36 hours. Unofficial estimates said more than 1,000 have been killed in the siege, now in its eighth day.

The battle for the camps has left this battered city without electricity, water and sanitation facilities. Ninety-degree heat has raised the peril of a typhoid epidemic and one doctor reported 20 cases already had broken out.

Palestinian-leftist forces opened up overnight with rockets, mortars and machine guns along the entire length of Beirut's confrontation line from the shattered port to the suburbs in the south.

One rocket slammed into the street outside the Mayflower Hotel, among the few remaining gathering places for foreign correspondents, killing the hotel phone operator, wounding a woman passerby and showering the bar with glass.

UPI correspondent Michael Ross went into the port area and reported battles touched off three huge fires, their flames shooting 100 feet into the smoke filled sky.

This reporter joined Palestinian fighters in the Moslem suburb of Chiah. Sniper fire raked the streets and guerrillas huddled behind sandbags made from canvas food sacks bearing the legend "Aid from People of the United States."

Left-wingers charged that Syria, instead of withdrawing its invasion force, sent a new armored brigade of about 2,000 men into northeast Lebanon Monday. They said the troops took up positions at Isral, 50 miles north of Beirut.

The rightists' determination to seize the camps, which diplomats said carried Syria's tacit approval, paralyzed attempts to patch up the cease-fire.

(In Cairo, Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmi demanded an urgent Arab League summit to discuss ways of ending what Cairo's Al Ahram newspaper called a "Palestinian Stalingrad.") (League Secretary General Mahmoud Riad ordered units from Saudi Arabia and Sudan to cross into Lebanon from Syria today to bolster 1,000 Arab peace-keeping troops sent in last week.)

The original U.S. flag of 13 stripes and 13 stars was used from until 1795, when with the admission of Vermont and Kentucky to the Union Congress authorized a new flag of 15 stripes and stars.

Caribbean Summit Ends With Communique

DORADO, Puerto Rico (UPI) — The West's seven leading industrial nations ended a Caribbean summit pledging "better cooperation" to achieve steady recovery from recession while avoiding a new boom and bust cycle of inflation.

The leaders of the United States, Britain, Japan, France, Canada, West Germany and Italy agreed that since they met last year in Rambouillet, France, "economic recovery is well under way."

But the cautious language of their closing communique did not quite conceal the essential disagreement between the big three — the United States, West Germany and Japan — and the two weaker economies, Britain and Italy, where inflation is still running above 15 per cent and 20 per cent respectively.

"Our objective now is to manage effectively a transition, which will reduce the high level of unemployment that persists in many countries and will not jeopardize our common aim of avoiding a new wave of inflation," the statement said.

It committed the seven, representing 60 per cent of the world's production, to "deliberate, orderly and sustained expansion, and to the indispensable companion goal of defeating inflation."

Noting "the interdependence of our destinies," the leaders pledged "to work toward mutually consistent economic strategies through better cooperation."

The communique recognized, however, the "importance of each nation managing its economy and international monetary affairs."

It also approved "transitory financing" for industrial nations suffering balance of payment difficulties.

President Ford, host of the two-day meeting at the tightly guarded Dorado Beach resort near San Juan, pronounced the summit a success and said the participants had taken a "major step forward in cooperation."

LULU Countdown

We're pleased to note that three of Ulster County's four state legislators voted "no" Sunday night on payments in lieu of expenses (LULUS) for legislative leaders.

The bill setting the lulus, which range from $21,000 per year for the Senate Majority Leader to $3,500 for ranking minority members of committees, passed overwhelmingly in both the Assembly and the Senate.

The only local legislator who went along with the pack on this measure was Sen.Edwyn E. Mason, R-48th Dist.

Sen. Richard E. Schermerhorn, R-40th Dist., Assemblyman Maurice Hinchey, D-101st-Dist. and Assemblyman Emeel Betros, R-99th Dist. all voted no.

Now we hope all the legislators who voted against this deservedly unpopular pocket-liner will show they mean it and return or give away their lulus. If they don't, their "no" votes will look like ordinary political grandstanding.

STAFF'S CHANCE

Balance of Power in School

If a school district is to be run properly there must be a good working relationship between the school board and superintendent of schools.

The relationship is as delicate and as difficult to maintain as the balance of power between the branches of federal government. In some cases a weak superintendent intimidated by the board's power to deny him a new contract and becomes an order-taking clerk, carrying out the board's directives without question. In others, a strong willed superintendent convinces the board that only he has the technical know-how to make the proper decisions and the board becomes a rubber stamp for his policies.

Unfortunately for the children involved, we have of both in Ulster County.

To carry the parallel with federal government further, the district's taxpayers represent a third, or judicial function. They must act indirectly through their control of school board elections, but their cooperation is necessary if the district is to be best served.

A fourth—and often disruptive—source of power come from outside the district. The commissioner of education is not subject to many of the checks and balances that restrain the board, superintendent and public.

The public's influence on the commissioner is almost non-existent, involving a long and tortuous route throughout the governmental maze in Albany. Those who feel that the commissioner's powers must be curbed face a tough fight, but they will find that they have friends in the state legislature who feel the same way.

Thanks for Saving a Life

Dear Editor:

This is a very special thank you to two policemen who saved my 67-year-old father's life on June 4th when they answered his call for help. If they had not answered his call for help when he could not breathe and applied oxygen and called for an ambulance, he would not have been able to be with us on this Father's Day.

Words cannot express my appreciation. I hope other senior citizens realize how fortunate they are to be able to call for help as he did and receive such quick response. Thank you from the bottom of my heart.

Dump Every Public Official

Dear Editor

As this marvelous country of America approaches its 200th birthday, we have to look at the progress which this country has made over these years.

We have modern facilities and housing. We also have transportation that is capable of taking us long distances in short time. We have conquered outer space, combined forces with Russia in the space program and have broken barriers with Red China.

Along with progress come corruption, greed, dissention, dishonesty and double standards in justice. We are experiencing lower moral standards, bewilderment, uncertainty, inflation, unemployment and starvation.

Without a doubt, when England experienced her sex scandal approximately seven years ago, our public officials pointed fingers. Now, other countries can laugh and point their fingers at us. These officials continually spread propaganda. "If elected, I'll take care of you." Using our money to have sexual favors is taking good care of us, right?

Between this latest scandal and the Watergate scandal, it just substantiates the amount of greed and corruption in our governmental departments.

The dissention in this country revolves around the younger generation, who can see what is going on. This produces riots and demonstrations.

We experience dishonesty when funds are misappropriated, or a person who has been allowed to misrepresent claims for $1.5 million of taxpayers' money and is sentenced to only four months in prison, receives money every day he is there. These represent the double standard justice system in this country. If an honest working man could ever hope to get $1.5 million of federal money, you would never see that person again as a free man.

Due to the public opinion of Mr. Bergman's sentence, it was mentioned that unless he received more of a sentence, they would prosecute Mr. Bergman's son. I thought that once a person was tried and sentenced, he couldn't be tried again. The "pantylace" judge should have considered this to begin with.

The citizens of this country are also bewildered and uncertain of their future as well as that of our nation. Our people are also paying higher prices for goods with very little money. These prices are dictated and brought about by the conglomerates that run this nation. It is not "by the people, for the people" as it originally started out.

You have people unemployed and people that face starvation, but we can send money and grain to the so-called less fortunate in foreign countries while the less fortunate in America go hungry and without work. You have people on welfare that don't belong there and some not on welfare that really belong there due to "red tape."

I think it is due time for Americans to wake up and dump every public official now in office and start over. If you remember a few years ago the Russians said, "We will take America someday without firing a shot." Are they getting close?

Jimmy Carter Has A New Accent

At Athens, Georgia, a month or so back, a young man associated with the University of Georgia and formerly on the staff of Governor Carter told a story at the small dinner before the lecture.

...It was April, 1973, and Governor Jimmy Carter had flown to Washington to tape an exchange on Firing Line, the weekly television program. "We" — the reference was to the governor's staff — "were all anxious to see how the Governor made out, so I had a bunch of them over to my house to listen. Well, after you introduced him, and he started talking — we couldn't believe it. His accent was completely changed. If we had heard the voice without the picture, we wouldn't have known it was the boss talking."

It transpired that Jimmy Carter had been practicing — in total privacy, Pygmalion-like, a new accent. The de-regionalization of Jimmy Carter. Decided southern inflections were left, but what had been there before — the deep southern accent of deep, traditio al Georgia, was gone.

"That's his regular voice now," I was told. I asked whether he was still capable of resurrecting the older voice, like Eliza Doolittle when slipping on a banana peel. The qualified answer was yes, he could still speak like the old Jimmy Carter, and under special circumstances, before certain audiences, would do so. But the current accent is now the working Jimray Carter. Presumably if he wakes up in his sleep and talks, he uses his Firing Line voice. That is true self-mastery.

When Jimmy Carter came to New York the other day to give a foreign policy speech, one might put it that his objective was to win grudging praise from the New York Times, which has always been rather disdainful of Jimmy Carter, suspecting that under that smooth, calm exterior lies a Georgia cracker. Until very recently, James Reston could not refer to Jimmy Carter except as "Wee Jimmy."

How do you go about appealing to the New York Times in a foreign policy speech? Well, it takes a little practice, but nothing you can't master by exercising in your bathroom, say ten minutes a day, sitting down, reading the Times' editorials.

1. You say something on the theme of interdependence — we all live on one planet, that kind of thing.

2. You say something on the theme of our natural allies — our great postwar alliances with Europe, and Japan — and the need to revive them.

3. You say something about the international problems of poverty and population control — and the creative role the United States can play in helping people help themselves.

4. You say something about the emerging nations of Africa — encouraging those "trends" within Africa that point the democratic way, and you deplore the racist policies of South Africa.

5. You deplore, in an age of endemic poverty, the amount of money spent on arms throughout the world, but you make moderate references to the need for a U.S. military capable of serving essential American interests.

6. You deplore the continuing aggressiveness of the Soviet Union — but you stress that we live in an age of accommodation, not confrontation, and restress the need for patience and understanding, which however is not to be confused with weakness.

And what will you get from the Times?

"It is unreasonable to expect a candidate for high office to spell out exactly how he might respond to future contingencies. But in his carefully reasoned statements so far — particularly his impromptu responses to questions — the former Georgia Governor has gone a long way toward dulling charges of unfamiliarity with foreign policy challenges that would confront him as president."

Jimmy Carter can do no wrong these days. It requires not alone the self-mastery (few have it — even the renowned intellectual virtuoso, Henry Kissinger, can no more shake his accent than Lady Macbeth could her stigmata), but an internal distillery that pumps out just about what the folks want to hear, and the folks are rewarding Mr. Carter in the polls munificently.

Better Gossip Than Sex

WASHINGTON—There is a tremendous amount of talk these days about the newspaper's role in scandal. Should the press discuss the sexual and private lives of public servants? What is the point of newspapermen reporting gossip? Unfortunately, the sex scandals have gotten everyone off the track. There is a definite place for gossip in Washington, but it shouldn't have to do with who is sleeping with whom.

This is the type of gossip column that Washington and the country needs.

Congressman Val Blinkerman was seen last night at Duke Zeiberts Restaurant dining with a lobbyist from General Dynamics. Rumor has it that Blinkerman may be in bed with the B-1 bomber people. . . . Senator Tom Crinkle missed an important vote on the tax bill because he was off hunting on the eastern shore of Maryland with several buddies from an aerospace conglomerate. . . . General Charley Rotor and his family are vacationing in the Virgin Islands, compliments of an armored personnel tank company. Charley wanted to stay for a second week, but he had to get back to the Pentagon to advise the secretary of defense on equipment for the U.S. Army's new tactical division. Tough luck, Charley, but a week is better than nothing. . . .

Washington is agog over the new Mercedes Benz Billy Rimsikorf is driving. Billy, who makes $15,000 a year, said the Mercedes was a gift from an old college school chum who is now VP of a large oil company hoping to get offshore drilling rights to New Jersey. Do we hear wedding bells in the office?

The lovely hostess Clara Kay, wife of the powerful Senator Biff Kay, is no longer doing charity work. She has just been hired by the government of Rutania to handle its public relations in the United States. Clara is very excited about her new job and sees no conflict with her husband's position as chairman of the subcommittee on Rutania, which will hold hearings next week on a $900 million aid package to the country. Ambassador Zoog, who throws the best parties in Washington, told us, "I am secretly in love with Clara. We're very lucky to get her." When we asked Clara what her salary would be, she said, $85,000. "Isn't it fun?" she giggled. "I'll be making more money than Biff."

What consumer advocate is now being followed night and day by the FBI? . . . Toland Brillo, of Brillo, Factor and Capitan, the Washington law firm, gave a big party at the Madison Hotel last week to celebrate an out-of-court settlement he made with the Justice Department in the SEC fraud case of Dilly Doodle. For those of you who have short memories, Doodle was indicted for embezzling $20 million in a grain fraud scandal. Thanks to Brillo, Doodle was fined $500 and cannot deal in wheat futures for six months. Poor Dilly.

Dr. Huddleston Hargrave, the tough

Federal Drug Administrator who was responsible for the recall of Whizzadrine, made by the Plowboy Drug Co., has resigned to become vice president in charge of public affairs for Plowboy at $150,000 a year. His last act before leaving the FDA was to rescind his recall of Whizzadrine, which he admitted was a "terrible" mistake.

It's sad but true. Two of our favorite people, Henry Kissinger and Ronald Reagan, are going their separate ways. Henry is 'keeping detente, and Ronnie gets custody of the Panama Canal. . . .

Another couple on the verge of splitsville are Mayor Abe Beame and Secretary of the Treasury Bill Simon. Simon has told friends that Abe spends money like water, and Abe says Simon doesn't have any idea what it costs to run a city any more. Simon is thinking of taking out a classified ad saying he will no longer be responsible for Abe's debts. Isn't it terrible when love goes out the window and disputes about money take over? . . .

If you see a light over Langley tomorrow evening don't call the fire department. The CIA is holding a bonfire to burn records that have just been subpoenaed by a joint congressional committee.

The Pentagon has misplaced $9 billion. . . . Now It Can Be Told Dept.: Richard Nixon and Spiro Agnew always disliked each other, and friends say had Spiro become President he would have never pardoned Nixon. . . . That's all, folks. More hot stuff tomorrow.

Mexico Holds Oil Jackpot

WASHINGTON — A top-secret CIA report claims that impoverished Mexico is sitting on an astounding 75-billion-barrel oil reserve. This would boost Mexico to second place among the world oil powers.

Numerous government and industry sources have told us the huge figure is possible but improbable. The highest estimate we could get general agreement on is 60 billion barrels. But one cabinet member told us that he believes the CIA's startling, confidential discovery is true.

This would give Mexico a reserve seven times larger than what lies under Alaska's north slope. In terms of sheer world power, it would offer Mexico the opportunity to hit the big-time. Saudi Arabia has the world's largest oil reserve, which is close to 170 billion barrels. Kuwait ranks second, with 71 billion. Iran is third with 64 billion, the United States and Russia fourth with 40 billion.

The incredible CIA report cites the rich oil reservoir Mexico struck in 1974. The preliminary drillings uncovered three vast oil fields in the Mexican states of Tabasco and Chiapas. Industry sources say this has now been expanded to an area 300 miles long and five miles wide.

The Mexicans, however, are playing it cagey. The country already produces all the oil it needs, and Mexican officials claim this is their only concern. One embassy official told us the CIA estimate is "totally out of proportion." Mexico's national oil company, PEMEX, estimates the reserves at a cautious 12 to 14 billion barrels.

If the CIA figure turns out to be true, however, it means the Mexicans will be playing a high-stakes international game. There would be powerful U.S. pressure on Mexico to break the Middle East oil cartel. But the Mexicans have announced they would join the cartel if offered the chance.

FATAL MISSION: The day before American Ambassador Francis Meloy was murdered in Lebanon, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger ordered him to become more "directly involved" in the peace efforts and to increase his contacts with the warring factions.

Specifically, Meloy was directed to call upon President-elect Elias Sarkis. The secret instructions were flashed to Beirut on June 17. The following morning, in obedience to Kissinger's orders, Meloy set out to visit Sarkis. The ambassador passed through no-man's-land in a bulletproof Chevrolet sedan. But he never reached his destination. He was kidnaped and killed.

Kissinger took pains to stress in his instructions that Meloy should "take due regard for personal safety." It was also the ambassador's own original suggestion that he should play a more active role in pursuing peace in Lebanon. Agreeing, Kissinger instructed him to proceed as promptly as possible to contact the rival leaders and to encourage them to contact one another.

LOVE PLOT: A Senate aide has reported to the FBI that he was lured by a Russian beauty to her apartment in Moscow. After his return home from Russia, he began reading a book about the KGB secret police and became suspicious that she might have been a KGB agent.

The aide, 29-year-old Jeff Bingham, is on the staff of Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah. He spent a week in the Soviet Union last March. As he recounted the incident to the FBI, an attractive woman was seated at his table in the hotel dining room.

She spoke excellent English and was dressed fashionably. She introduced herself as Natasha Sokoloff, called "Flora" by her friends. She was a tour guide, she said, from Kiev. They went dancing after dinner, and then she invited him to her Moscow apartment for tea.

Bingham dated her twice. She made some disparaging remarks about her own country but showed no interest in his Senate work, he later reported to the FBI.

Not until he got home and began reading about the Soviet secret police were his suspicions aroused. He first called the CIA which turned him over to the FBI.

The FBI agreed that his encounter with an attractive, English-speaking woman who happened to have a private Moscow apartment was probably no coincidence. "It appears to be a classic case of attempted subversion," an FBI source told us.

She either changed her mind about trying to blackmail him or was setting him up for future contact, the source suggested. Sen. Garn said his aide, in reporting the incident, did the right thing. Garn is a member of the permanent Senate Intelligence Committee.

SENATE PAWN SHOP: Two years ago, we reported that Renaldo "Muzzie" Spittle, who worked in the Senate Post Office, was inspecting the mail of Sen. Joe Biden, D-W. MI. Spittle got his job through ex-Sen. Cdele Boggs, R-Del., whom Biden defeated.

After our story appeared, Spittle was quietly transferred to the Senate warehouse. Now we have caught him operating his own private pawn shop in the warehouse. He offered to sell jewelry to our reporter Barbara Vass, who posed as a Senate secretary on a shopping prepe.

Later, our associate Gary Cohn, posing as a city street punk, brought a wristwatch to Spittle's private pawnshop. "Hey, Muzzie, I hear you buy watches and other stuff," said Cohn. "I got a watch to sell."

Spittle said he was in the market, asked to see the watch and whipped out a jeweler's instrument to inspect it.

In the Wake of Summer's Debut, Designers Present Fall, Winter Wardrobes

The country look by Lois Anderson-- a dramatic llama rug striped blanket fringed poncho with a cozy hood, shown over its companion skirt, combined with a soft cashmere cowl sweater under a crepe de chine shirt. From the Tannerway Collection for Fall

The pale brown ultrasuede shirt dress is the basis of a fall wardrobe. It takes shape from the meticulous tucks around the torso. Coordinate with all your tops from a pale silk shirt to a matching cashmere turtleneck and you'll never be caught without a thing to wear. Designed by Joseph Gargiulo for Abe Schrader.

The new asymmetrical neckline in tree bark silk, designed as a show stopper for glamorous social evenings, designed by Halton.

From Jerry Silverman's Fall and Winter 1976 Collection designed by Shannon Rodgers - a black polyester chiffon jumpsuit with a glitter trim blouson pullover. Photographed in New York in the apartment of Kenneth Rolfe.

Life

Mark of the Lion for Fall 1976 features an oatmeal nubby outdoors turtleneck sweater with matching pinched crown cap, reversible putty and avocado poplin cuffed jacket over putty flannel trousers; from Peter Wrigley and Chuck Howard of the Anne Klein Studio.

Bill Kaiserman's brand of elegance, comfort for the city, is an ensemble of grey flannel pleated pants, versatile grey plaid pullover shirt with placket front and knitted waistband. Both from Bill Kaiserman's Fall '76 collection for Rafael.

NEW YORK—For Fall 1976, the American fashion-makers speak American, pure and simple, clear, controlled and cool.

Within the shared framework of wrappriness, layers and fascination with textures and tonalities rather than construction and cut, the American looks are, like Americans, trim, on-the-move, proudly body conscious however layered, imaginative without too much nostalgia, sexy without decadence.

The big story lies in the amazing variety of types and moods destined for the American wardrobe this autumn. A strictly man-tailored suit and topcoat will hang side by side with an unconstructed wisp of angora chiffon knit and a lush mohair or ultrasuede steamer coat. Rugged country knickers, jodphurs borrowed from the polo field, mountain climbers, parkas and ponchos, sweat suits and duffel coats will share closet space with drawing-room velvets, beaded chiffrons and non-sewn topless tubes of thin satin knotted over the breasts.

Day clothes can involve four or five layerings and still look slim. At night only one twist of wedding-ring hammered satin may hold body and soul together.

The new spirit of lots of clothes for lots of purposes is no relation whatever to the lost-soul confusion of the do-yournown thing epoch. People expect solutions as well as options, these days, and American designers are geared to it.

This is a plus year for both cloth coats and suits with costume additions. A coat always has its companion dress, skirt and sweater or pants. A suit, man-tailored or dressmakerish in the Hattie Carnegie and Ben Zuckerman tradition, is never without its own understatement of soft shirt or vest (very often both) and its topper, a reefer, a shawl, a cape or weather coat. Newest and most deluxe of these is the light-as-air silk raincoat.

The keynote of every costume, male or female, is the way it moves with and shows off the well-tended body. Tailoring is a triumph of smooth line minus the oldtime armature of canvas and padding. Soft shaping is a triumph of drape and bias flow. Several collections are almost entirely bias-cut.

Pants are noticeably skinnier and skirts notably fuller. Sleeves have a tendency to balloon out and necklines to open out. Even turtle necks expand into hoods or lie in a loose ring around the throat.

Rural sporting goods stores and the Ellis Island "melting pot" have both inspired American designers, adding practicality and wit to both sporty and festive clothes. Down-filled quilted parkas, foresters' mackinaws, riding britches, foul weather slickers and wool-to-poplin reversibles, stadium blanket coats and multi-pocketed fisherman's jackets make utter realism chic. For fantasy, there's the slick perfection of the riding ring, jodphurs and hacking jackets. The yachting blazer is important along with the luxury of weightless mohair or cashmere steamer coats, the rich peasant in gorgeous flowered wool chiffon or satin jacquard.

Mixing textures rather than patterns is a fashion fixation. Donegal tweed, cable knit, printed velvet and moire often turn up in a single costume. Fluffy mohair, flat gabardine and plaid cotton is another layering. Two or three layers of thin silk crepe in brilliant colors make an evening pajama into a walking abstract painting. The idea is invariably worked out subtly, with tactile appeal as well as eye appeal, a collage that is never ad lib nor accidental.

In the fall 1976 color palette, American designers have obviously drawn on the American landscape, from Vermont foliage to the Grand Canyon and the Rockies and the Western desert. The cool mixed greys of mountain ranges and city caverns, the mixed greens of forests and the wild russets and golds of autumn hillsides are all reflected in an alive, expressive interplay of tones that occasionally burst out in fireworks colors.

The signatures of the season are hoods, cowl and slant "deep throat" necklines, buttons used decoratively in long rows, the draw-string waist, the sash.

OCS Students Place in State Contest

BOICEVILLE—The DAR Chapter winners in the Girl Homemakers Contest from Ontario Central School are among the finalists in the State Contest. Open to girls from 10 to 14 in a junior division, and 15 to 19 in a senior division, several students in the homemaking classes of Ontario Central School at Boiceville, entered both divisions through the Johannes Hardenbergh Chapter at Lexington.

Anne LaGorga, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John LaGorga of Shokan, eighth grade student at OCS, tied for third place in the junior division. Her outfit was a blue cotton jumper with red, white and blue shirt.

The judges selected the brown and orange dress of Lynne Houldin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Houldin of West Hurley, 10th grade student, for third prize in the senior division.

The girls each received a pair of dressmaker shears from Johannes Hardenbergh Chapter and five dollars from the State DAR Organization. These awards were presented at the recent Junior and Senior High School awards programs sponsored by the OCS Teachers Association.

Music Used to Develop Communication

NEW PALTZ—Children in the primary and early intermediate classes, for children designated as trainable mentally retarded in the Ulster County BOCES Program, will be receiving regular music therapy as a result of a grant funding the program for the school year 1976-77. These children generally show a lag of speech and language development in comparison with their peers, and music has been documented as a valid curricular activity through which to develop communication skills. Music Therapy in particular, is designed to foster communication.

youngsters in vocal and instrumental music with the central aim to increase speech and language production through the music.

The grant, which is funded as a mini-project through the State Education Department of New York, is for $2039. It provides funding for salaries for the two students, salary for a registered music therapist, Mrs. Marilyn Mauser, to administer diagnostic pre and post test instruments; salary of Ms. Lynn Sarda, director; and funds for equipment and materials.

The Music Therapy Program will involve 20 children in weekly sessions and their parents in parent training sessions. The classes will be located in the Marletown Elementary School, Stone Ridge.

Two State University College at New Paltz students: Jeanine Coutant and Randy Willinger, are enrolled in the college's Music Therapy Program and will be working on a weekly bases with the BOCES

MUSIC THERAPY STUDENT Jeanine Coutant, aids youngster in manipulating wind instrument in session at an Ulster County BOCES Special Education Program.

Jazz Festival at SPAC Features Count Basie

SARATOGA—The third annual Upstate-New York Jazz Festival at the Saratoga Performing Arts Center will open Wednesday, June 30 at 8:15 p.m. with a concert featuring Count Basie and his fabulous band with Joe Williams, one of its most illustrious alumni.

The concert will be the first of five featuring some of the greatest names in jazz, including Stan Kenton, Maynard Ferguson, Dizzy Gillespie, Lionel Hampton, Oscar Peterson, Stanley Turrentine, Ted Curson, Nick Brignola and Ella Fitzgerald.

William Basie was born in 1904 in Red Bank, N.J. He received his first musical training from his mother. As a young man he played in various Harlem clubs. This was during the early 1920's when piano was "the instrument of the day." His influences included James P. Johnson, Willie "the Lion" Smith and, most of all, the great "Fats" Waller.

Basie toured the famous T.O.B.A. "Sheel," the major vaudeville circuit for black entertainers. Later he joined the Walter Page Blue Devils and eventually the Benny Moten Band. When Moten died, Basie took over, bringing the band to New York in 1936.

Joe Williams was born in Georgia in 1918, but moved with his family to Chicago at the age of three. Chicago is known as "the city of the blues" and in 1937 Williams began his amazing career as a blues singer with the late Jimmy Noone. In 1941 he joined Coleman Hawkins' big band, later singing with Lionel Hampton. In 1950, Williams first worked with Count Basie when they played the Brass Rail in Chicago for ten successful weeks. At the end of 1954 — Christmas day to be exact — Williams joined the Basie band as a permanent member. In 1961, after six years as the featured Basie vocalist, Williams left to fashion a notable career on his own.

Other Jazz Festival performances include: Stan Kenton and Maynard Ferguson on Friday, July 2 at 8:15 p.m.; Dizzy Gillespie, Lionel Hampton and Ted Curson (with Nick Brignola) on Saturday, July 3 at 8:15 p.m.; Oscar Peterson and Stanley Turrentine on Sunday, July 4 at 8:15 p.m., and Ella Fitzgerald on Friday, July 9 at 8:15 p.m.

Tickets for all Jazz Festival performances may be obtained at the box office, Ticketron outlets and Saratoga Festival agencies.

SUMMER REPERTORY THEATRE at New Paltz Parker Theatre is preparing to open this weekend as Joe Baer of New York City and Glen Cunningham of Wappingers Falls place the sign indicating the location. "Little Mary Sunshine," directed by Frank Kraat, has been chosen for the opening. It spoofs all aspects of the old-time operettas from over-earnest heroes to dastardly villains. The musical is complete with 24 songs. It will be presented July 3, 8, 22, 21, 31, and Aug. 6. "Jacques Brel Is Alive and Well and Living in Paris," is the offering for July 9, 10, 24, 28, and Aug. 4 and 5. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

First Place Winners in Flower Show Are Announced

Junior Division, Cynthia Babb.

Adult Division: Mrs. Roy Helmsmoortel, Mrs. Richard Wenger, Mrs. Rita Senor, Mrs. Brendan Dooley, Miss Jane Ziegler, Mrs. George Jorgensen, Mrs. Hugo Knaert, Mrs. Olav Sande, Mrs. James Babb, Mrs. Robert H. Finger, James Burke, Mrs. M. Archibald, Marge Archibald, Mrs. Robert Freer, Linda Gavener, and Betty Born.

Dear Abby

Is Husband Fantasizing or Philandering?

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know if I am living with a talented poet or an incurable woman-chaser.

My husband and I are in our late middle years, and I thought him loyal until I found in his desk several hundred love poems he admits he composed himself. Some are as bland as unsalted popcorn, but most are more like enchiladas!

These impassioned paeans of pleading, praise and ecstasy contain the names of more than a dozen women—Ginny, Julie, Linda, Jackie, Edna, Florence, etc. All, he insists, are casual encounters about whom he has fantasized.

Is it possible that there is no foundation whatsoever for all these torrid "love affairs" he so vividly described in his poems? Just how much "poetic license" should one be permitted?—POET'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Poets have vivid imaginations, but the only way you can tell whether or your husband is fantasizing or philandering is to catch him in the latter. Meanwhile, renew his license and forget it.

DEAR ABBY: I wonder if you or your readers can come up with an answer to my problem.

I've just moved into a new home. My next-door neighbor is very likeable, and I enjoy her company. However, I visit her home only upon invitation.

Not so with her. She is at my door at least twice a day. Each day her visits become longer. Friday she stayed from 12 noon until 3 p.m. Today (Monday) she was here from noon until 3 p.m. again. Today I scrubbed the kitchen floor and turned on the dishwasher. Conversation was difficult, but it didn't slow her down.

In another town, six years ago, I had the same problem. When I suggested to my neighbor that perhaps she was visiting me too much, she left in a huff and never spoke to me again. I felt a loss as she, too, was a nice person whom I enjoyed as a friend.

I don't want to lose my new neighbor's friendship in the same way, but I don't want to resort to leaving my home daily just to avoid her. How can I discourage her in a way that will retain the friendship on a less frequent basis?—NEEDS SUGGESTIONS

DEAR NEEDS: Take your choice. You can keep quiet and let your neighbor barge in whenever she pleases for as long as she likes. Or you can tell her in a nice way that you need more time to yourself, so you'd appreciate it if she would please call first.

If she rejects your friendship because of your frankness, it's preferable to being trapped in your own home or having to leave just to avoid her. Who needs friends like that?

DEAR ABBY: Why did you have to write that column saying Indian men were better lovers than white men? There are enough white women throwing themselves at my half-Mohawk husband without giving them added incentive.

Please tell those love-hungry white women that if they want an Indian lover, they should have married one, as I did.—MARY FROM SYRACUSE

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Rene Simard Appears Tonight at Saratoga

SARATOGA SPRINGS—Canadian singer Rene Simard, who has already sold more records in Quebec than the Beatles, Elvis Presley or all French-Canadian artists combined, will appear at the Saratoga Fair tonight. In 1974 Simard represented Canada at the Tokyo Music Festival and won the grand prize for the best song and the Frank Sinatra award for the best performance. He recently made his American television debut on the Mike Douglas Show. He has 12 gold albums and 10 gold singles to his credit.

Saratoga Fair-goers looking for a bargain should mark today and tomorrow. This is Price Chopper Buddy Day and Wednesday is Stewart's Ice Cream Fair-Play-Day. Discount ride coupons are available either at Price Chopper or Stewart's outlets for the respective day.

Free grandstand shows are presented at 8:30 and 8:30 p.m. each evening of the fair located at the Saratoga Race Course.

The Gorham Freedom Bell

The ringing of bells has always been a part of America's traditions. And this year it can be part of yours when you celebrate the Bicentennial by ringing The Gorham Freedom Bell.

Designed as a beautiful reminder of our proud heritage, The Freedom Bell handcrafted by Gorham, producers of fine silver products since 1831, has been handsomely cast in antique-finished Ameralloy. It has a full-bodied tone that's pleasing to hear. Inscribed with its name and Bicentennial dates on the front, and the last words from America "... From Every Mountain Side, Let Freedom Ring" on the back, The Freedom Bell stands as a unique expression of American freedom.

Ring it throughout the year. Give it as a gift or buy it for yourself and become a member of The Freedom Bell Society of America.

The Freedom Bell Society of America is a national society of patriotic Americans joining together in a program to commemorate the founding of our great American nation on its 200th birthday. A percentage of your purchase price for the Freedom Bell will be used for the safeguarding of Independence Hall and other historic structures in Philadelphia and to improve their surroundings. Membership is available to all and includes a Membership Certificate signed by Bob Hope, the Honorary National Chairman, Society Newsletters, and a Freedom Bell Society Decal for car or home window. Members of the Society agree to ring a Freedom Bell at Midnight on New Year's Eve and again at 2 p.m. E.D.T. on July 4th, and to do so every year in celebration of America's great heritage of Freedom.

Lionel Herrington

215, American Federation of Musicians, will again present a series of 10 concerts in the park. Beginning this Wednesday, June 30, the program will start at 7:30 p.m. in Academy Green.

Performances are co-sponsored by the musicians' union Performanc Trust Fund and the City of Kingston. The concerts have been enjoyed by many area residents for many years. Admission is free.

Selections for Wednesday include Sousa marches, symphonic music, ragtime, blues, highlights from The Music Man and more.

Lionel (Lee) Herrington who has been a member of the band for 17 years, three as conductor, will be conducting this year's concerts. A graduate of Ithaca College School of Music, he is a familiar music educator in the area.

Free Reading Program Planned at New Paltz

NEW PALTZ—For the third summer the Faculty of the Elementary Education Reading Center at State University College, New Paltz, is offering a supervised program for experienced teachers who are preparing to specialize in Reading.

A major part of the program is devoted to working with children who have reading problems. During the period beginning Wednesday, June 30, the children are also given help on a tutorial basis. The sessions are generally four times a week for a period of five weeks ending August 3.

Parents who would like to enroll children in this free program should contact Dr. Olga M. Santora, Old Main Building 206A, State University College at New Paltz, 12561.

Receives Scholarship Award from Legal Secretaries Group

KINGSTON—Nancy Sergeant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Sergeant of New Paltz, received the 1976 scholarship award given by the Ulster County Legal Secretaries. A sports enthusiast, she was a member of the field hockey and volleyball teams at New Paltz High School and co-captain of the volleyball varsity team. She was also tapped for honor society.

Miss Sergeant, a Business major at New Paltz, will attend Albany Business College for study in the executive secretary course.

NANCY SERGEANT

Musical Cavalcade Headed for Ancram

ANCRAM—The Ancram Opera House will bring back guest artists, Robert Cumming and Leighton Phraner, in their special Bicentennial revue, "Songs of the American People." The program was first presented over the Memorial Day Weekend and will be presented again Wednesday, June 30, to July 18.

Composed of 28 duets arranged chronologically and historically from 1700 to 1976, this musical cavalcade is, as Phraner defines it, "An American history course through music, painstakingly researched, presented without pretense with the accent on humor."

Performances are Wednesday, Friday and Saturday each week at 8:30 p.m. with matinees on Thursday and Sundays, 2:30 p.m. Reservations are to be made at the Ancram Opera House.

Book, Plant Sale Set for Wednesday

KINGSTON—Yourstory Library of the YWCA, 209 Clinton Avenue, is sponsoring a Book and Plant Sale, Wednesday, June 30, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the porch of the YWCA.

Garden perennials will include several species that flourish in the shade and are almost maintenance free; as well as, fragrant herbs, rock-garden plants and more. House plants will be gift-packaged and will include donations from many well-known local gardeners. Instructions will be given for the care of all plants purchased at the sale.

The Book Sale will feature a group of children's and adults' books donated by the publishers especially for this event. Collectors will be on hand for the English paperback editions of famous mystery writers not ordinarily available in this country; and a bonanza of older vintage mysteries.

Yourstory Library is the women's library at the YWCA. It is a collection of materials by or about women, largely in paperback and pamphlet form, and is supported by donation only.

Erma Bombeck

He Should Be Listed in Yellow Pages Under 'Auto Parts'

While Erma Bombeck takes a well-deserved one-week vacation, we welcome the opportunity to offer some of her most popular past columns.

I have a child who should be listed in the yellow pages under "auto parts." The motor in my car never turns over but that he is belted into the front seat with a smile on his face saying, "Where are we going?"

The truth is, he doesn't even care. He'll go to a drive-in library, a night depository slot at the bank, a tire center, an air hose at the gas station or a self-service ice machine.

The other afternoon, I coasted the car quietly down the driveway until I thought I was out of hearing distance. Then I started the motor, shoved it into first and as the kids say, "laid a patch." Out of the back seat came a voice, "Hey, Mom, where are we going?"

"How did you know I was going anywhere?"

"I saw you in the garage looking for your car keys," he said. "Where are we going?"

"We are going to follow a garbage truck from Ohio to Tampa. You want out?"

"No. How come you're so sore? Is it because when I'm in the car you can't sing duets on the radio with Glen Campbell?"

"No."

"Is it because I forgot my shoes again?"

"No. Frankly, I am worried about your spending so much time in a car. You're getting a station wagon pallo. Not to mention the fact that you never get any exercise. You ride in the car to school and back, to ball practice, to the grocery, to the dentist, to church, to the movies, to the barber shop, to your friends' houses to play. It's about time you started using your feet."

"My what?"

"Your feet. They're what you'd have shoes on if you didn't blast out of the house in such a hurry to get into the car."

Overeaters Change Place

KINGSTON—Overeaters Anonymous, a program of recovery for compulsive overeaters will meet at the Unitarian Fellowship Church of Ulster County, 99 Henry Street, Thursday nights, instead of at the YWCA. Times are 7:30 p.m. for beginners; 8 p.m. for regular meeting.

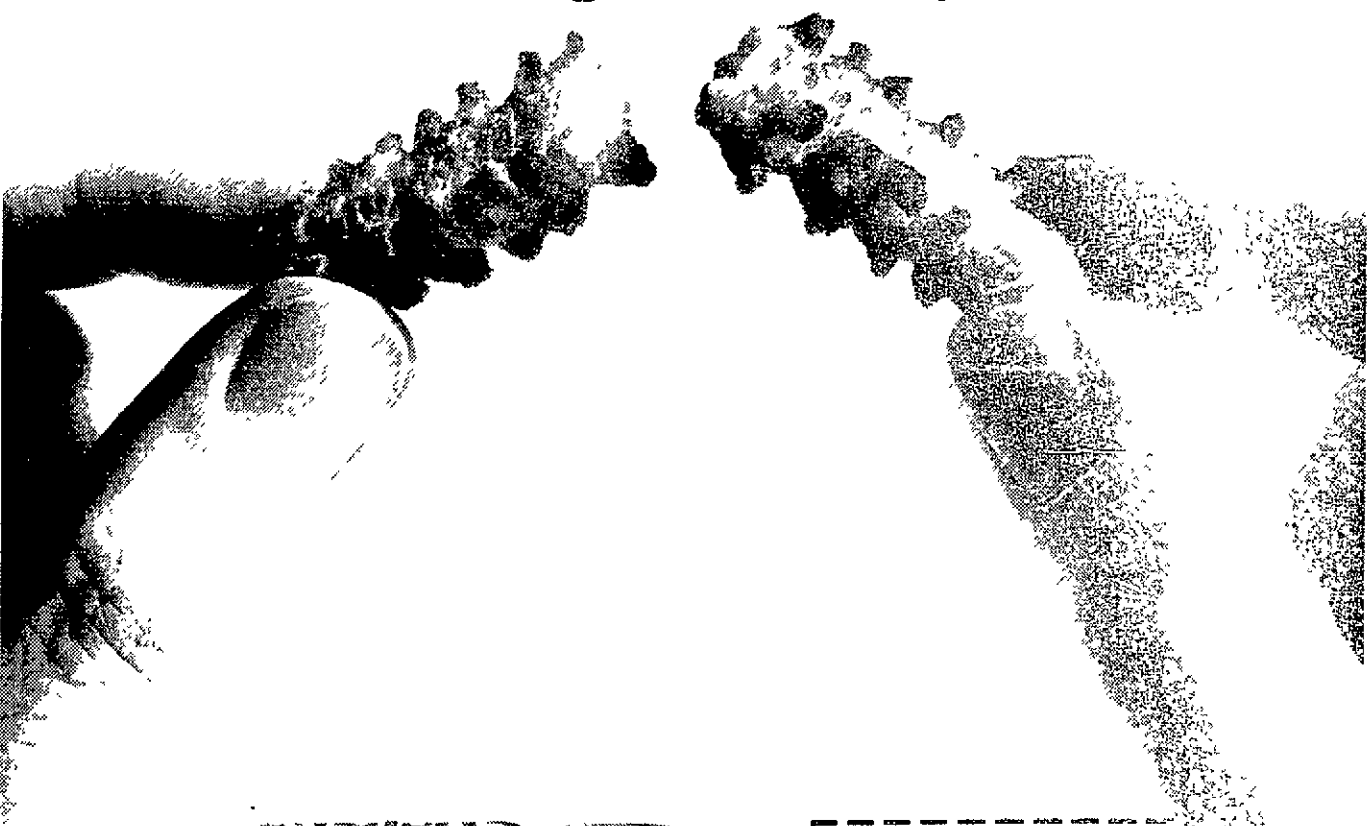

Woodstock Teachers Honored

WOODSTOCK—PTA - USA, was the theme of the recent luncheon honoring the Woodstock teaching staff. Regional American dishes depicted the USA as the great melting pot of the world. All were prepared by parents of the Woodstock School. Joy Bell, chairman, and Jacqueline Francois, co-chairpersons, express appreciation to all who assisted.

Ore-Ida introduces french fries so crisp, they snap.

If you want french fries that are extra crisp, try new Ore-Ida Crispers. Regular french fries merely bend. But new Ore-Ida Crispers are so crisp, you can actually snap them.

That's because they're specially made for oven heating.

They have little ridges that lift them off your cooking sheet and let the heat circulate around them evenly.

So you get french fries that are probably crisper than any others you've eaten.

Swine Flu Vaccination Program Needs Jet Gun for Success

ATLANTA (UPI) — Federal health experts believe the success or failure of the nationwide swine flu immunization program this summer and fall rides to a large extent on a bit of medical technology accidentally discovered in a French factory nearly 100 years ago.

French workers in the 19th Century complained that when using grease guns they sometimes injected themselves rather than their intended targets. This simple industrial accident gave birth to the idea of the modern-day jet gun — a medical instrument with a pistol grip and a trigger that shoots a stream of immunizing liquid at high pressure and velocity through the skin without breaking or tearing it.

The gun works through hydraulic pressure. The operator presses a foot pedal once to supply the power for each shot.

Aaron Ismach, an Army civilian employee at Ft. Dietrich, Md., and Dr. Abram Benenson now dean of the medical school at the University of Kentucky, are credited with developing the injector gun now in use. They produced seven prototypes in 1959-60 with a sapphire nozzle nearly impossible to wear out.

Officials at the National Center for Disease Control say they expect medical technicians using the jet gun to immunize 800 to 900 persons an hour when the swine flu vaccination clinics begin operating across the country in July.

Some jet gun operators, they said, can expect to inoculate an even greater number of persons. During the Salk polio vaccination campaign in the 1950s, one technician immunized 1,440 persons in an hour.

This jet gun speed of getting an immunizing liquid into the arms of 200 million Americans compares with 60 an hour that could be expected if public health officials had to depend on the syringe and needle.

Vaccinations given via the jet injector "are considerably less painful than those given by needle," according to Phil Horne, a technician with the CDC's Division of Immunization. "Children are less frightened and there generally is less commotion in the clinic line," when the injector is used, he said.

The CDC selected a firm in Carlstadt, N.J., Vernitron Medical Products, Inc., to supply jet injectors for use in the influenza immunization program. Under terms of the contract Vernitron will manufacture from 1,400 to 2,000 jet guns. The initial order of 1,400 guns will cost $1,318,915. Additional guns, if needed, will cost $935 each.

Never before has the jet gun been put to such extensive use as the role planned for it in the swine flu immunization program this summer and fall.

"No other form comes close to the efficiency, reliability and efficacy of jet injector vaccinations," said Dr. J. Donald Millar, the CDC coordinator of the federal-state anti-swine flu effort.

The injectors will be distributed to state health departments which in turn will oversee their use in the public immunization clinics. They will be paid for out of a $26 million fund appropriated by Congress to help the states defray costs of giving the flu shots to Americans.

Ford Working Out Delegate Strategy

By UPI

President Ford is home from Puerto Rico and planning strategy to pick up the remaining 66 delegates he needs to win the GOP nomination next month in Kansas City.

Ford arrived back in Washington late Monday night, enthusiastic over the results of the economic conference of the leaders of six Western countries and Japan.

After briefing his Cabinet today, he was slated to confer with his campaign strategists on what they accomplished in his absence and on what moves to make next in the person-by-person fight for the magic number of 1,130 GOP convention delegates.

His challenger, Ronald Reagan, entertained the traveling press corps at his California ranch, and the apparent Democratic candidate, Jimmy Carter, is off on another fundraising tour with high hopes of helping to pay off the campaign debts of his primary opponents as well as his own.

Several dozen members of Reagan's traveling press corps were treated to a barbecued beef lunch at the former California governor's 680-acre reception.

Rep. Albert P. Morano, R-Conn., who is contesting the Senate seat now held by Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., invited Reagan to address that state's July 16-17 convention — the last of the year, but has not yet received a reply.

Weicker supports Ford, who is expected to win most of the state's 35 delegates.

Sheriff Serving Jail Term

LAKE GEORGE, N.Y. (UPI) — Former Schoharie County Sheriff John Goldsper Monday began serving 11 concurrent six-month jail terms, but an official said he could be out in two months on parole.

After exhausting all appeals on his 1974 conviction for official misconduct, Goldsper appeared at the Warren County sheriff's office at 2 p.m., accompanied by his attorney, ready to start serving his sentence. He was carrying a suitcase and brown shopping bag.

Warren County Sheriff William Carboy said Goldsper could be eligible for misdemeanor parole and be out of jail in two months.

Goldsper said only he "wished everyone well" when asked for comment by reporters.

The former sheriff was sentenced to the 11 concurrent terms for the unauthorized use

The Bird Is Flying High

DETROIT (UPI) — A "Bird" in the hand...is not worth nearly as much as one on the pitching mound. Or so the Detroit Tigers think.

Mark "Bird" Fidrych, whose antics delight everybody but the batters, pranced and pitched his way to his seventh straight victory Monday night when the Detroit Tigers ended the New York Yankees' five-game winning streak, 5-1, in full view of 47,855 fans and a national television audience.

The rookie right-hander set New York down on just seven hits in raising his record to 8-1. The only run the Yankees scored came in the second inning when Elrod Hendricks hit his third homer.

Rusty Staub supplied Fidrych with two runs in the first inning by hitting his fourth homer and Aurelio Rodriguez gave him breathing room in the seventh when he hit his fifth homer.

The 21-year-old Fidrych now has completed eight of his nine starts and has an earned run average of 2.05 in an impressive run at an All-Star game berth and Rookie of the Year.

"I don't want to talk about things like that," said the frizzy haired and lanky Fidrych, who was given his nickname "Bird" because of his physical resemblance to "Big Bird" of "Sesame Street." "I don't worry about tomorrow."

Detroit's third largest crowd of the season wasn't worried about tomorrow, either. They have taken to the so-called flakey pitcher and showed it by filling the air with "We want Fidrych" chants after the game was over.

"I didn't know what to do in that situation," he said. "I tipped my hat, waved. I couldn't believe it. They should have asked for the whole team. Why should I go?"

"It's the guys doing it—not me. I don't know how to say thanks. It all makes me feel so good. But it's the team. These guys make me, I'm not making myself. If I was doing it all myself, I'd be striking everybody out (he struck out two and walked none)."

The crowd cheered most of his moves, starting when he ran out to warm up before the game. It roared when he was announced as the starting pitcher and really flew off the handle as it became obvious Fidrych was going to win.

Elsewhere in the AL, Boston outlasted Baltimore 12-8, Cleveland beat Baltimore 5-3, Texas edged Oakland 3-2 in 11 innings and Minnesota nipped Kansas City 4-3.

Red Sox 12, Orioles 8

Third baseman Butch Hobson, reactivated less than 24 hours earlier, smacked a two-run, inside-the-park homer to highlight a three-run sixth inning. With the score tied 8-8 and Cecil Cooper on first base, the 24-year-old rookie whacked a drive against the left-center field fence just out of the reach of a leaping Paul Blair. The ball rolled into right-center field and Hobson made a belly slide to beat the relay throw to the plate.

Indians 5, Brewers 3

John Lowenstein drove in two runs with a single and a homer and reliever Jim Bibby hurled 6 2-3 innings of two-hit relief raise his record to 4-2. After spotting Milwaukee a 2-0 lead in the first inning, Cleveland bounced back on Lowenstein's first homer of the season in the first, Alan Ashby's double and Duane Kuiper's sacrifice fly in the second and a pair of runs in the fifth on an error and Lowenstein's run-scoring single.

Rangers 3, A's 2

Jeff Burroughs' one-out single in the 11th inning drove in Lenny Randle from second base and lead Texas over Oakland. Randle reached first on a bad-hop single off the glove of A's shortstop Bert Campaneris and moved to second on a sacrifice by Ken Pape. Toby Harrah was intentionally walked by loser Jim Todd to bring up Burroughs, who slapped a 1-0 pitch over Todd's head into center field.

Twins 4, Royals 3

Tony Oliva doubled in the tying run and Larry Hise lofted a sacrifice fly in the eighth inning for the winning score in Minnesota's victory over first-place Kansas City. The Twins scored after a 61-minute rain delay brought on fresh pitchers for both teams.

Mark Fidrych in action against Yankees

Tigertown Just Loves Its Star Rookie Hurler

DETROIT (UPI) — Mark Fidrych has captivated Detroit like no single athlete since Denny McLain.

An enthusiastic crowd of 47,855, the Tigers' third largest of the season, turned out Monday night to watch the rookie right-hander subdue the AL East division-leading New York Yankees, 5-1.

"It would have been a good drawing night anyway," Manager Ralph Houk of the Tigers said. "It was Family Night (a Detroit promotion), the Yankees are in first place, and we looked good on television during the weekend."

"I think we would have had 30-35,000. At least that was the figure that was mentioned before the game. But I'll say this: A helluva lot of people came out to see Fidrych."

Fidrych warmed up and they cheered his presence. He took the mound at the start of the game—getting down on his right knee to pat the dirt in place with his left hand—and they gave him a thunderous ovation.

Fidrych talks to the ball; another ovation. Last out of the final three innings; more ear-rattling applause...It's enough to turn a young man's head.

"I don't want that to happen," Fidrych said. "If that starts to happen, I want somebody on the club to smack me down. I want somebody to say, 'You're too cocky. You're not that good. You're only a rookie.' I don't want to get a big head."

The Yankees ignored the colorful rookie's antics—at least they said they did.

"It's strange, some of the things he does," Manager Billy Martin of New York said. "But if that's what makes him, then he ought to keep on doing them."

"He's doing it for himself," said first baseman Chris Chambliss. "He's using it for concentration. I don't think he's trying to psych us out."

"One guy I pitched to pointed to his bat," Fidrych said, "and then pointed to right field. That was funny. I can't remember who it was but he popped up. I think he was trying some kind of psych or something."

One writer came up to Fidrych to report that Yankee catcher Thurman Munson called his act "bush."

"Let them call me 'bush.' Let them call me 'turkey.' I don't care what they say."

"They," Fidrych said, gesturing toward a locker room full of teammates, "don't think that. They don't think I'm bush. I'm with them, not over there with the Yankees."

"It's great for the fans but he's not that flakey," said Houk. "He says funny things and he does funny things but when he's out on the mound he's all business. He's quiet on the bench when he's pitching. He knows who the next batter is. He knows everything that's going on."

That's almost word-for-word what another Tiger manager, Mayo Smith, once said about another Detroit pitcher who was described as "flakey"—McLain, who was worth a few paid admissions when he pitched for the club in 1968, '69 and '70.

Dodgers 5, Braves 2

Lee Lacy's sacrifice fly in the seventh inning scored Dave Lopes to break a 2-2 deadlock and Bill Buckner followed with a solo homer to give the Dodgers a victory over the Braves and help Rick Rhoden to his seventh win in a row. Bill Russell had a two-run single for Los Angeles while Willie Montanez hit a two-run homer for Atlanta.

Reds 7, Padres 3

Joe Morgan drove in four runs, three of them with his 13th homer, to pace Cincinnati to victory over San Diego. Rookie Santo Alcala went the first six innings to gain his seventh win in nine decisions. Willie McCovey hit a three-run homer for the Padres, the 463rd homer of his career.

Phillies 6, Expos 2

Garry Maddox drove home three runs with a triple, single and sacrifice fly and Mike Schmidt hit his 21st homer to lead Philadelphia past Montreal. Steve Carlton went the distance for the Phillies, striking out nine, to gain his seventh victory.

Astros 8, Giants 2

Cliff Johnson drove in three runs with a pair of doubles to spark Houston's victory over San Francisco. Bob Watson chipped in with a two-run double for the Astros as Mike Cogrove and Bob Forsch tamed the Giants on five hits.

Roscoe Tanner Upsets Connors

WIMBLEDON (UPI) — Roscoe Tanner upset favored Jimmy Connors 6-4, 6-2, 8-6, today to reach the men's singles semifinals at the Wimbledon tennis championships.

Earlier story below.

"I've beaten him before, so why not again?" snapped Tanner, generally acknowledged to have the fastest serve in tennis.

Tanner, the left-hander with the super-sonic service, is not the least awed by Connors.

However, Connors has not lost a set and has dropped only 29 games, the lowest by any player left in the tournament, in winning four matches so far. Tanner has dropped one set and 62 games in the same number of matches.

Unseeded Vitas Gerulaitis, who ousted the top-seeded defending champion Arthur Ashe, met fifth-seeded Raul

Ramirez of Mexico in another quarter-final match in the $280,000 tournament.

With Ashe gone, Tanner and third-seeded Ilie Nastase are the only players left in the tournament to have beaten Connors this year.

Nastase met unseeded Charles Pasarell of Puerto Rico in another quarterfinal, with fourth-seeded Bjorn Borg, brilliant on grass this year for a man who professes to prefer clay, met sixth-seeded Guillermo Vilas in the fourth.

"I've come to win," Connors says. His incentives are to regain the title won in 1974 and the first prize of $22,125.

Chris Evert, the women's top seed, reached the semifinals Monday with an impressive win over Russia's fifth-seeded Olga Morozova, 6-3, 6-0, and will play Martina Navratilova in the semifinals Wednesday.

"I am playing much more aggressively," Chris said. "I go to the net much more often. The others don't seem to be playing well, but maybe I'm not giving myself enough credit for playing well."

She does not expect many problems with Navratilova, who beat Britain's Sue Barker, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5.

"I don't think Martina is playing so well this year. I will be going into the match with great confidence."

And she added frankly: "In a way I'm glad she (Billie Jean King) is not playing because I really think she could win it again."

Miss Navratilova was in tears of frustration during her match because of line calls and the 100 degree heat on court.

Eyenne Goolagong, the second seed, beat Rosie Casals, 7-5, 6-3. In the semifinals, Goolagong will play Britain's Virginia Wade, who defeated Australia's Kerry Melville Reid, 6-4, 6-2.

Goolagong edged Wade in the 1975 semifinals in three close sets.

Hess Named at New Paltz

NEW PALTZ—Roland Hess of Hanover (Ind.) College has been appointed soccer and baseball coach at New Paltz State, the Freeman has learned.

Hess, who has his doctorate, succeeds both two-year baseball coach George Valesente, who led the Hawks to two of their most successful seasons ever on the diamond, and one-year soccer coach Bob Joly. Valesente's budget line had been cut in next year's plans, and Joly was working part-time, so the decision was made to combine the two posts.

Hess will be the school's fourth soccer coach in three years. Long-time coach Bob Durkin was relieved of his coaching post by Dr. Eugene DeLuca, former chairman of the Department of Physical Education and Recreation, in 1974. Pete Van Gaem served one year before choosing graduate school over returning to

New Paltz, and then Joly served last season.

Hess' appointment is effective Sept. 1, but the 44-year-old coach will be in town soon to look for a home.

Soccer, which for many years was the major sport on campus, has gone into a decline in recent seasons due to a variety of factors, including the inability of to sign foreign-born players. They were long the backbone of the program.

Rankin Need Not Apologize

CHAGRIN FALLS, Ohio (UPI) — Judy Rankin isn't going to apologize for her closing round of 75 in winning the $100,000 Babe Zaharias Invitational Golf Classic.

Rankin picked up $15,000 for the win, boosting her year's winnings to a record $96,830, but she was visibly disappointed about a double-bogey six on the 17th hole, nearly wiping out a three-shot lead.

"I'd feel pretty good about the day if it hadn't been for 17," said the 31-year-old Texan, who captured her fourth victory on the LPGA tour this year. "But this time, I'm going to give myself the benefit of the doubt and say that I was swinging a little bit tired."

"Usually, I blame myself, but the last few days I felt like I couldn't get out of bed. I'm just overgolfed."

Jane Blalock earned $11,000 for her second place finish, one stroke back, and JoAnne Carner, last week's winner of the Hoosier Classic, picked up $7,600 for third. She finished at 290.

Sandra Palmer finished in fifth place with 293, earning $4,600, while Susie McAllister and Chako Higuchi were next at 294 and young Ai Yu Tu came in at 295.

Rankin, who took the lead Sunday with her second straight 69, held a three-stroke margin over Carner and Blalock going into her final round, but had to par the last hole, a tough dogleg left which proved difficult all week for the players.

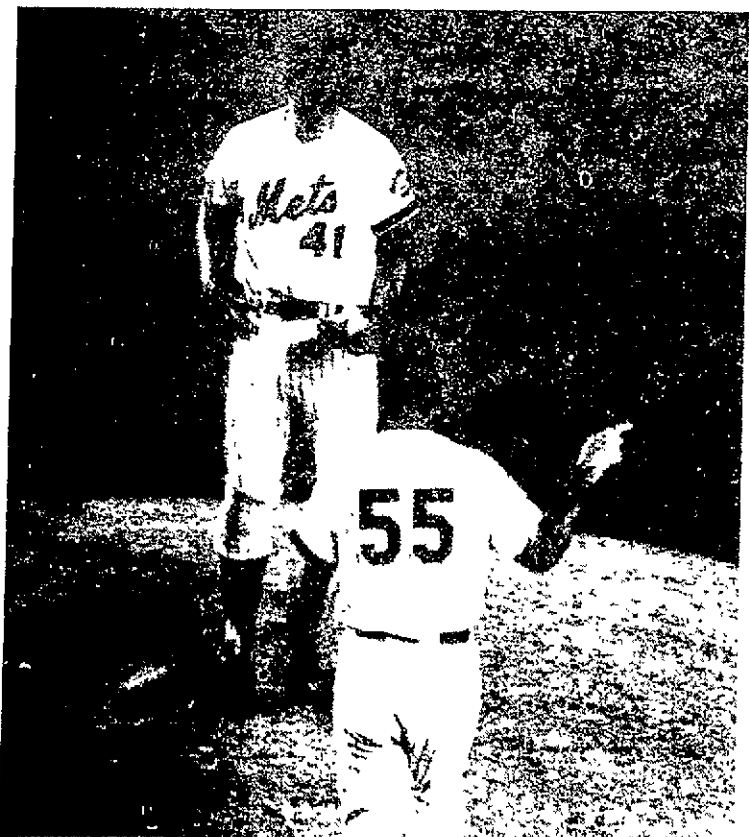

But Rankin whistled a four-wood to the left side of the green and calmly two-putted from about 30 feet to nail down the win.

She started 17 three shots ahead, but double-bogeyed when she hooked her drive into the water. Blalock was already in at even par and Carner was also even as she teed off on 18.

Carner, gambling for a birdie, tried to cut the corner of the dogleg, hit a tree and took a double-bogey six, finishing her chances.

"I knew I had to birdie the hole to put pressure on Judy," Carner said in explaining the gamble. "I hit the drive just super, if I hadn't hit the tree. But the gamble didn't work."

"All I can say is I don't play for money," said Carner, who lost an additional $1,700 in prize money when she didn't par the final hole. "I play to win."

'Mad Hungarian' Is A Little Bit Maddier

NEW YORK (UPI) — Reliever Al Hrabosky, the "Mad Hungarian," should be a little madder after Monday night.

The fiery-eyed left-hander, who stalks the mound like he's on guard patrol, tossed a wild pitch in the eighth inning to allow the winning run to score and give the New York Mets their fifth straight victory, a 5-4 decision over the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I was surprised at the wild pitch," said Dave Kingman, who upped his major league-leading home run total to 26 in the fourth inning. "Hrabosky pitched very well to (Mike) Vail and I didn't expect it."

Kingman, who singled with one out in the eighth, was sent to third on pinch-hitter Joe Torre's single. Mike Vail, batting for Del Unser, then struck out but Hrabosky uncorked a pitch that bounced past catcher Ted Simmons as Kingman scored.

"I thought Hrabosky was trying to waste a 1-2 pitch and he just threw it away," said Met third baseman Wayne Garrett.

New York starter Tom Seaver left the game when he encountered rough going in the seventh inning.

"He just lost his stuff in the heat," said Met manager Joe Frazier. The temperature was 84 degrees at game time.

The Cardinals scored two runs in the seventh on singles by Lou Brock, Simmons and Willie Crawford and an error by Seaver, and tied it off reliever Skip Lockwood in the eighth when Ron Fairly beat out an infield hit with the bases loaded.

Lockwood, 4-2, got the victory with a save from Bob Apodaca, and Bill Greif took the loss, his fifth in six decisions.

Al Oliver may have toned down his personality some but his bat hasn't mellowed a bit.

The 29-year-old outfielder of the Pittsburgh Pirates for years has been his own biggest fan when it comes to extolling his talents as a baseball player. Each year in the past he would bemoan the fact that he was unappreciated by the public, the press and the Pirates, then go out and hit his usual productive .300.

After seven years in the majors, however, Oliver says he has quit complaining about lack of recognition. From now on he'll let his actions on the field speak for him. Right now his actions are making quite a noise.

Oliver, who has taken over the National League lead in batting during the recent week, collected four hits Monday night, including his 12th home run, and drove in four runs to lead the Pirates to a 9-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs. He has now had eight hits in his last 11 at bats to raise his average to .354.

"For seven years I've evaluated myself as a ballplayer and now it's time for someone else to evaluate me," said Oliver. "Over the years I've become accustomed to not getting the fanfare. When I wake up and see that I'm 12th in the All-Star balloting it doesn't surprise me. Five or six years ago I would have become upset but not now."

Oliver is more concerned these days that his peers recognize his talents, rather than the fans or the press.

"If I continue to hit I might get picked by the All-Star manager and that's important to me," he said. "Like last year Alston picked me and I hit a key double for the win. Alston has always thought highly of me and I hear the Dodgers have been trying to trade for me."

Oliver's hitting helped Jim Rooker to his seventh win in 10 decisions. Rooker went the distance, allowing nine hits, to best Joe Coleman. Bill Madlock homered for Chicago.

In other NL games, Los Angeles beat Atlanta 5-2, Cincinnati whipped San Diego 7-3, Philadelphia downed Montreal 6-2 and Houston defeated San Francisco 8-2.

Earnest, Duffy Named OCS' Top Athletes

BOICEVILLE — Conrad Earnest and Colleen Duffy have been named Outstanding Athletes at Oontora High School.

Earnest starred in soccer, skiing and tennis for Oontora.

He was named All-American, All-State, and All-Ulster County Athletic League as a soccer goalie as he helped OCS win two straight UCL titles. Earnest played on the varsity two years and was captain during his senior year.

In skiing, Earnest was captain in two of his four varsity seasons and placed fifth in the Section Nine meet.

Earnest played varsity tennis for four seasons, competing at the No. 1 position as a senior. A season when he also was captain. OCS won the UCL title in tennis the past two years.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Earnest of Woodstock, Conrad plans to attend Ulster County Community College and major in Recreation Supervision.

Duffy was a headliner in five girls' varsity sports.

In field hockey, she played on the varsity three years setting Oontora seasonal and career records for goals. A co-captain her senior year, Colleen was an All-UCAL first team center-forward who contributed to a pair of Section Nine championships.

In volleyball, Colleen played on the varsity three years serving as co-captain the last two. Her OCS team won the UCL championship twice and she was named to the all-league team.

The leading scorer and rebounder on the basketball team, Duffy was a varsity starter three years and an all-UCAL divisional choice. In softball, her three-year varsity career was capped by an all-UCAL honorable mention nod at first base.

She also competed in track and field for one season, served as vice-president and president of the Girls Athletic Association, and was a member of the Leaders Club and Honors Society.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Duffy of West Hurley, Colleen plans to attend Springfield College and major in Physical Education.

Presentation of awards to Earnest and Duffy was made by Athletic Director Joe Ahouse at the recent Spring Athletic Reception.

DeMont Considers Retiring

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Unable to make the U.S. Olympic team four years after being stripped of a gold medal at Munich, Rick DeMont is thinking about giving up competitive swimming.

DeMont, 20, has been offered a scholarship at University of Arizona next fall but he's dropped out of training for the summer.

"I just feel like taking a good, long rest," he explained. "I might go back to swimming at the end of the summer and I might not. Right now I don't really know and I'd rather not think about it."

"When I didn't make our team, naturally I was disappointed but I was relieved in a sense, too. When it was all over, it felt like a load off my back. I felt free."

The son of a San Rafael, Calif., dentist, DeMont won the 400-meter freestyle at the 1972 Olympics but lost his gold medal for taking a prohibited decongestant prescribed by U.S. team doctors for an asthma condition.

At the U.S. Olympic Trials that concluded last week in Long Beach, Calif., DeMont failed to qualify for the finals of the 400 freestyle. He swam his lifetime best in the 400 individual medley but that was good enough only for seventh place.

"I guess you could say I'm mentally burned out," DeMont continued. "I've been swimming since I was seven and I've been swimming seriously since I was 14. That's four hours a day except for Sundays with only a few weeks off a year for almost seven straight years."

"When you're swimming, it becomes almost a habit. There are a lot of times you don't want to go to the pool but you go because you don't want to sit around feeling guilty."

At Munich, Australia's Brad Cooper was given DeMont's gold and fellow Americans Steve Genter and Tom McBreen were moved up a notch after the Californian was disqualified.

"I'm not really sensitive now about what happened then, but at the time I didn't feel that it was fair," DeMont said. "That's all behind me now, though. It's something that I don't think about unless somebody asks me about it."

"Really, it's almost like it didn't happen to me. I don't even care about it any more. But it can happen again. Sure it can. It happened at the Winter Olympics to a Russian athlete."

A 6-foot-2, 170-pounder, he swam for University of Washington for two years before transferring to College of Marin at San Rafael to concentrate on getting ready for the Olympic Trials.

"I don't know what happened to me at the Trials," DeMont said. "It's really hard for me to say. I thought I trained pretty hard. Perhaps, I wasn't that motivated when I got on the blocks."

"I felt good at Long Beach. I just couldn't go fast enough."

For the summer, DeMont has taken a job teaching swimming to children. He's in the pool four hours a day. He says he enjoys it.

What about the Montreal Olympics?

"To tell you the truth," he replied, "I don't really care that much. Sure, I'll be interested to see what the swimmers do but I won't be too excited. Our men are extremely talented again. The women? I don't think the East Germans have anything in the bag. I think Shirley Babashoff will be pretty tough for them to handle."

And the event he won at Munich?

"We're six seconds ahead of the rest of the world," he noted. "It'll be any one of the three Americans."

Brian Goodell set a world record—3:53.31 at Long Beach—and former world record holder Tim Shaw and Casey Converse also will swim for America in the event.

DeMont will turn 21 on April 21. His 18-year-old brother, Ken, already swims at University of Arizona.

Junior Tennis Draws 425

KINGSTON—A total of 425 youngsters on 24 teams will participate in the newly formed National Junior Tennis league, the Recreation Department has announced.

The league, which begins play July 6, will hold an orientation program Wednesday at 10 a.m. at the Municipal Auditorium for park directors involved in the NJTL. Volunteers are needed to coach teams and are asked to contact the Recreation Department.

The league will have two divisions, the American and National. The American includes Herzog's, Kingston Plaza, Kaye Sports, Carraghan Oil, Yallum's, Potter's, Black Acres

Tennis, Sands, Sweathogs, and three teams sponsored by the Recreation Department. The National division includes Kingston Trust 1, Kingston Trust 2, Mammoth Mart 1, Mammoth Mart 2, Uncle George's Hot Weiners, Kingston Patrolmen's Association, Kingston Area Tennis Association, Walnut Grove, and four teams sponsored by the Recreation Department.

Businesses or individuals interested in sponsoring a team should also contact the Recreation Department.

Don Williams Jr. has been appointed 1976 tenn director by the Recreation Department. He will run the NJTL, hold clinics and supervise the Ulster County Junior Tennis Tournament.

Smith Sees May as Key Man

NEW YORK—Coach Dean Smith of the United States Olympic team, which will play an NBA all-star team July 8 at Kutscher's Country Club in Monticello, is of the opinion that Indian's Scott May will be a key member of the U.S. squad.

May is "to say the least," comments Smith, "one of the best." His Indiana lost only one game in the last two seasons.

Fellow Hoosier Quinn Buckner will join May in the backcourt on the Olympic team.

Named Player of the Year, May was the leader of Indiana's 1976 national championship team. He averaged 23.5 points per game and was named to the All-American team for the second straight year. He won the honor a year ago despite sustaining a broken left arm late in the season.

"They put a 13-inch pin in my arm," recalls May. "At first, I didn't think the doctor knew what he was doing, but apparently he did."

When the arm snapped, May thought his basketball career was over. "I thought it was all over. I thought I might never play again." The healing was slow, but May recovered with the help of constant exercise, isometrics and weight lift ing

The Indiana All-American was selected in the first round of the NBA draft by the Chicago Bulls and figures to be in the starting lineup come next fall.

Tickets for the game at Kutscher's Country Club are priced at $7.00 and are available at the Country Club in Monticello or at Publicity Enterprises in New York City.

Sweathogs Score Win; Losers, Aces Play to Tie

KINGSTON—The Sweathogs defeated the Tigers, 4-2, and the Losers drew with the Aces, 3-3, in Kingston Team Tennis League action.

The Sweathogs received singles victories from Andy Stoll and Sue Jordan, and two doubles wins, including one from the team of Al Gruner and Louise Ambrose in the match played at Loughran Park.

Gene Chua, Jane Tonnessen and the doubles team of Peter Boyd and Ann Inglesbe delivered victories for the Losers, while the Aces' wins came from the doubles teams of Ray Amell and Kal Kalleberg Mickey Edwards and Bill Phillips and Nancy Glynn and Janet Teresa in the match played at Forsyth Park.

Accord Race to Van Etten

ACCORD — Ron Van Etten of Rhinecliff earned his fourth victory of the season Friday night as he captured the Sportsmen Feature at Accord Speedway.

Van Etten avoided several accidents to thread his way to the win. By the end of the race the speedway was checkered with broken fences, flying stock cars and mangled metal.

Most serious accident of the night occurred when Rich Ricci of New Paltz injured his leg from flying metal and the transmission of his car exploded.

In other race action, the Late Model feature was won by newcomer Jackie Brown followed by Joe Winnie, Don Palmateer, Roger DeLease, Bob Buyl, Don Weaver, Bob Christiansa, Van Evans, Ed Farrel and Bob Krautheim. A Late Model feature continued from last week was won by Joe Winnie.

Racing continues this Friday night.

Sires Stakes Back at Raceway

MONTICELLO—The measure of improved quality and quantity of New York-bred trotters and pacers, spurred by the rich Sires Stakes, will be vividly demonstrated Tuesday through Friday as the touring series for three year olds is billboarded at Monticello Raceway.

More than $150,000 in purse money is up for grabs and some of the most valuable harness horses in the world will be going after a share of the bounty.

Tuesday night the Sires Stakes division for threeyear old filly trotters will be raced for an estimated $37,122.

Wednesday night three-year old colts and geldings trot for $37,704 in prize money.

Thursday evening the classy sophomore fillies are carded with the estimated purse in excess of $38,000.

Friday night the series ends with the headliners three-year-old colts and geldings pacing for more than $40,000.

Indications are that on Thursday and Friday almost every serious eligible for the world's richest pacing race, the Monticello -OTB Classic estimated at $30,000, will be previewed on the Catskill Mountain half-mile oval.

The Classic will be raced here Sunday, July 25. A week earlier, on July 18, the Classic Elimination will boil the field down.

Currently, 54 New York-bred three-year old pacers are eligible for the second edition of the rich Race for the Gold. More than a score of them are expected to make the final $2,000 nomination. Results of this week's Sires Stakes competition will give the owners and trainers a good indication of the racing edge they are building for the $300,000 finale.

A Bicentennial fireworks display in the first minutes of America's 200th birthday is part of harness racing's observation of the historic moment scheduled at Monticello Raceway.

Actually, the celebration is scheduled for the night of July 3-winding up with a midnight Bicentennial fireworks salute, spilling over into the early morning hours of July 4.

Prior to the Saturday night race card, fans will be entertained by the famed Little Big Horns Drum & Bugle Corps, a colorful and precision group 50 strong who will have a busy weekend. They will appear in front of the grandstand for a 45-minute performance.

The Liberty Little Big Horns are also scheduled to perform in two parades in the area on the fourth.

An historic panopoly marking the Bicentennial of America includes a display of every flag that flew over the land in our 200 years as the United States of America. The colorful corridor is a year-long display that has attracted considerable favorable comment from fans attending the races this year.

It will be continued the rest of the year as part of Monticello's observation of the Bicentennial.

Trying to Cream the Competition

Ice cream eating is supposed to be a pleasurable experience but it has its serious moments as well. Four-year-old Martha Trader of Livonia, Mich., has little time for frivolity as she competes in a local ice cream eating contest. In spite of all efforts, Martha didn't place. (UPI)

Army Ways Work for New Chief

SEBRING, Ohio (UPI) — David D. Hack, who brought new ideas to Army recruiting while in the military, is bringing new ideas to law enforcement as Sebring's new police chief.

Hack, 36, wears a silk shirt at night, carries a guitar over his shoulder and sits outside 'avens telling potential troublemakers why behaving is good for them.

During the time he was Army recruiter in the Akron area in the 1970's, Hack signed up four times his quota of men by driving a flashy star and stripes car and giving away T-shirts reading "Sgt. Hack Wants You."

In 1973, as the Army was about to make him a public relations specialist, Hack took a disability retirement.

"I wasn't cut out for the Army desk routine, so I cut out instead," he said.

Hack, who became Sebring's police chief a couple of weeks ago, said being a good policeman is a lot like being a good recruiter.

"The secret is communication," he said. "You tell a man why the Army will be good for him and you tell a biker why behaving will be good for him."

"But," he said, "you do it in a friendly way, you don't back the man into a corner with no honorable way out."

Amazon Harvest Flooded

MANAUS, Brazil (UPI) — Floodwaters from the Rio Negro caused the loss of 30 percent of the jute and malva fiber harvests and severely hurt the region's cattle production, the Amazonas State Agriculture Federation reported Monday.

The flood, the second worst in the Amazon Region this century, destroyed 20,000 tons of jute and malva, the Amazon's most important product, and killed 2,000 cattle.

Although the Rio Negro, the Amazon River's largest tributary, has begun to recede an estimated three-fourths of an inch a day, the river still remained well outside its banks

CASE 27033 — CENTRAL HUDSON GAS AND ELECTRIC CORPORATION — GAS RATE INCREASE
Proceeding on motion of the Commission as to the rates, charges, rules and regulations of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation for gas service.

PROPOSED GENERAL RATE INCREASE OF APPROXIMATELY $1,669,000
June 18, 1976
NOTICE is hereby given that a public hearing will be held in the above matters before Examiner Vincent P. Furlong, at the Dutchess County Office Building, 22 Market Street, Poughkeepsie, N.Y., beginning at 1:00 P.M. on Thursday, July 8, 1976. This hearing is being held primarily for the following purposes:

(1) To permit the adoption of the company's testimony and exhibits which have been pre-filed with this Commission.

(2) To afford customers of the company and other interested parties an opportunity to make sworn or unsworn statements with respect to the company's various proposals.

The oral hearing will remain in session until 3:30 P.M. Any arriving before 3:30 P.M. or.

by previous appointment with the Presiding Examiner, before 8:00 P.M., will be given an opportunity to be heard subject to the availability of facilities.

The company is seeking the approval of this Commission to effectuate tariff changes which according to the company, will increase its annual electric operating revenues by approximately $13,752,000 and its annual gas operating revenues by approximately $1,669,000 distributed in a specified manner among various classifications of service.

The company has prefiled testimony and exhibits with this Commission in support of its proposals which are available for inspection at the offices of this Commission, Agency Building #3, Empire State Plaza, Albany, N.Y. Copies are also available for inspection at the Adirondack Memorial Library, 93 Market Street, Poughkeepsie, N.Y. and at the Public Library, 1 Franklin Street, Catskill, N.Y.

The Commission may approve, modify or reject any or all of the proposed tariff changes. Among other things, the Commission's determinations may require revisions of the proposed amount of the increase applicable to particular classifications of service, or changes in rates applicable to those classifications for which no increase is proposed by the company.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 30

Your birthday today: Educational progress now occurs in daily living. New habits displace old almost unnoticed as you zoom in on fresh interests. Earnings increase depending on how hard and with what you have to work. Relationships are subject to episodes of extreme pressure. Today's natives are traditionally versatile jacks of all trades, normally unconventional or eccentric in behavior.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Emphasis is on finances, recouping the low in your earnings cycle. Live cheap, spend little. Compare notes. You do as well as any, but don't boast.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): All in your crowd try to be constructive, but only hinder things. Accept people and circumstances as they are, work from there to improve conditions.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): The more people involved, the more likely a clash. If needed, your family unites to back you. If you owe something, you're subject to badgering.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Look into any discrepancy before complaining. It may only be minor. An urge to splurge is reckless. Decide how long your purchase will last.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Ideas are profuse, but few will work. Promote a better image. Educate those nearby to see positive qualities in people who carry responsibility.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): A tide of public affairs sweeps you along. Distorted facts put a different connotation on your achievements. It's to your benefit if you respond properly.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Being fair to all delays decisions. Others' opinions help with technical problems, but not your budget. Skip casual socializing and avoid a squabble.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Try the soft sell as you wind up the month. Ongoing negotiations gain from stoppage until you verify facts. Leave yourself free for alternatives.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Restrain your temper in dealing with objectionable people. Leave secret schemes alone. Stay on familiar ground basic to future prosperity.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Bickering over money gets you nowhere. Pilot projects prove expensive unless very carefully planned. Try to close out monthly routines on time.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Independent thinking brings you out way ahead. Work with confidence instead of talking about it. Don't pass the buck if the going gets tough.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Take extra precautions handling any equipment. Use of money is an area of contention if you demand too much. Well-discussed family ventures are favored.

How are our politicians going to explain those smoke-filled rooms to the voters who consider smoking a no-no?

People who blow their own horn always drive the car behind us.

Jean Adams TEEN FORUM

By Jean Adams, Ph.D.

FORBIDDEN: (Q.) My sister got married, then she separated from her husband. He has their child, a sweet and darling little girl.

Then my sister went with another guy. They are living together but are not married.

My sister's husband won't let me or my family see the little girl. I miss her badly and I love her very much.

I cry because of the hurt that made me and my family hate my sister because she left her husband, who was a good man, to go with a bum. He doesn't keep a job to even support her and he owes a lot of money to a lot of people.

My sister's husband doesn't want us to see the little girl because he wants her to go forget us. He is afraid she will be hurt more than she has already been. Please tell me what to do. — 14 in New York.

(A.) You say you and your family hate your sister. Anyone with hate in his or her heart is not an ideal person for a little girl to be around. Look into yourself and see if you can forgive your sister, even though she HAS done wrong things.

If you and your family can free yourselves of hatred and what it is doing to you, your niece's father may see the change in you and may change his attitude toward you.

ANOTHER: (Q.) I like a boy, but he wants to go with another girl. She doesn't like him but I do. Should I tell him I like him? — Puzzled in Pennsylvania.

(A.) From your writing and what you say, I gather that you are quite young. You can be friendly with this boy or with any other boys you like without committing yourself by saying, "I like you" or "I want you to be my boyfriend."

Relax and don't push the boy into a corner. If you are friendly he will see you like him and maybe he will like you better.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Hal could break his own rule

you should tend to keep on with it.

He felt that any time you broke a new suit you were likely to be giving a trick away.

Not that Hal was too stubborn to violate his own rules.

He sat West and made his normal opening lead of the four of clubs. Fourth best of a long suit was and always will be a standard lead against notrump.

South put his ace of clubs on East's 10 and led the 10 of diamonds. Hal ducked but had to win the next diamond.

Then he thought for a moment and planked down his ace of spades. East signalled with the nine. Hal led his last spade and declarer was down two.

As Hal pointed out later his spade lead might have cost a trick, but the only chance to defeat the contract would be to find East with those good spades.

Believe It or Not!

Army Beefs Up Staff To Wind Up Scandal by Summer's End

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UPI) — The Army has assigned 42 lawyers from other posts in an attempt to bring litigation in the U.S. Military Academy's cheating scandal to a close by the end of summer, it was disclosed Monday.

The lawyers, who will serve as both defense counsel and prosecutors, bring to 80 the number of attorneys working with the school's Staff Judge Advocate's office, including several lawyers already assigned from the Pentagon.

The decision to add the lawyers grew out of a meeting last week between academy officials and officers from the Judge Advocate General's (JAG) office at the Pentagon. School officials have reportedly said they want hearings for current cases finished before the end of the summer.

The additions will allow of fiercer board hearings into cheating charges against cadets to proceed simultaneously, rather than one at a time, as had been done previously, an academy spokesman said. Fifteen of 19 cadets have already been convicted and 148 cadets are awaiting hearings.

The next board is scheduled to begin work July 6, but it had not been determined how many cases it would hear. Four cadets have also resigned in the scandal that has touched 171 members of the 850 member class.

The spokesman said Monday current schedules call for the last boards to begin work in early August.

Not certain Monday, the spokesman said, was how witnesses and respondents in the cases would be called back to West Point. About half of the class of 1977 is on the post now, handling cadet training, but the other half is still away on other assignments or on summer leave, he said.

In another development, school officials said faculty members and cadets who took part in a 1974 review of the honor system would testify in Washington Tuesday before an ongoing Senate subcommittee hearing on honor codes at the nation's service academies.

Balloonist Nears the Half-Way Point

NEW YORK (UPI) — Karl Thomas today was closing in on the halfway point in his bid to become the first to solo the Atlantic Ocean in a balloon, his ground control base said. With luck, he could be in Europe by Thursday.

"We guesstimate he's about 1,200 miles east of New York City and about 250 miles south of Nova Scotia," Walter Clayton, a spokesman for the flight, said Monday.

"He's better than a third of the way there."

Thomas had planned to land Thursday in Paris. But a spokesman said he possibly could make it by Wednesday night if he were where they believed him to be.

Clayton said Thomas' position aboard the balloon he dubbed the "Spirit of '76" was based on his last radio contact, with an Alitalia flight from New York to Rome, at 10:43 p.m. EDT Sunday.

But the flight, which began Friday at the Lakehurst, N.J., Naval Air Station, was having its problems. The 27-year-old German-born balloonist's main radio transmitter apparently had broken down and he was using a backup system.

Clayton said there had been no direct contact with Thomas since the Sunday transmission.

"From the transmission to the airliner we know he is all right," said Clayton. "He didn't ask for any help. If he were in trouble he would have 'Maydayed'."

He said Thomas had a list of scheduled transatlantic flights and "we're hoping he will soon make more contacts for a better fix on his position."

Thomas' electronic navigational aids also have been useful less because of a suspected antenna failure and he has had to resort to a sextant and the stars to plot his course.

"If he is where we believe he is, he's in the best weather pattern possible," said Clayton.
